Supt. search finalists

Four candidates advance to final round

by Arlene Surprenant

Four superintendent finalists will be interviewed by the Wilmington School Committee on November 9, 10, 16, and 17. The search subcommittee on Tuesday finished its chore of narrowing down the 12 semi-finalists to six or less finalists. All except one is from Massachusetts.

Dr. Shirley Callan, head of the subcommittee, announced the names of the finalists late Tuesday night. They are Carl Batchelder, assistant supt. in the Whitman-Hanson Regional School District in Whitman; Geraldine O'Donnell, assistant supt. in the Haverhill Public Schools; Howard Goodrow, supt. of the Kearsarge Regional School District, SAU #65, New London, New Hampshire; and Dr. Charles Martin, supt. of the Rockport Public Schools in Rockport.

Callan praised both the search subcommittee and the candidates themselves saying members had a number of "outstanding candidates" to choose from. She thanked the subcommittee for putting in "a tremendous amount of time" during the search.

"They were absolutely committed to the process. The entire (school) committee would feel comfortable with any one of the finalists," said the chairman.

The school board will make site visits to each of the finalists' places of business October 20 to 30.

Palizzolo fills school vacancy

by Arlene Surprenant

In a close six to five vote, members of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen and the Wilmington School Committee on Tuesday chose former finance committee chairman Paul Palizzolo to fill a school board vacancy left by John DeMarco. It took only a few minutes for members to cast their votes.

Only two names were placed in nomination. Selectman Bob Cain nominated former school committee Chairman Aldo Caira. Caira had lost his seat in the last election by a mere four votes. Brad Jackson nominated Palizzolo. Selectmen Chairman Mark Haldane noted before the vote that both men are "well known in the community" and "have a history of serving their community." Selectmen Gerald Duggan and Chester Bruce, and school committee members Brad Jackson, Peggy Kane, Linda McMenimen, and Dr. Shirley Callan voted for Palizzolo. The remaining officials voted for Caira.

After the meeting, Palizzolo said, as a board member, his priority would be working on basic skills, upgrading student grades, and making sure the committee is "fiscally responsible." He was unsure, however, if he would participate in Wednesday's hazing discussion since he had yet to see the administrator's reports on the incident.

Duggan also had some comments on the selection process. He called for a change in the process noting that many residents called him to lobby for their favorite applicant. Most of the comments, he said, were political or personal in nature and dwelt on politics or personalities. The majority of the calls were "unbelievable," Duggan said.

Duggan suggested the board try to change the Town Charter so the vacancy isn't filled by an appointment of both boards, but instead, by the runner-up in the prior election.

"I certainly understand political lobbying. It's not the most enjoyable part of the (selectmen's) job," said Haldane.

"I choose to look at everything objectively," said Duggan.

Palizzolo will serve on the committee until the April election. He may then choose to run in the election to fill the remaining two years of DeMarco's term.

Disgusted Ballou calls for Callan, McMenimen resignations

by Arlene Surprenant

A call for the resignation of two school committee members stunned officials and residents alike at Tuesday's joint meeting of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen and the Wilmington School Committee.

An angry Dan Ballou notified school committeemen Linda McMenimen and Dr. Shirley Callan they have until October 19 at noon to submit their resignations or he would support a move to recall them from office. In his statement, the selectman charged the members with violating The Handbook for Massachusetts School Committee Members which states, in part, that committee members cannot act as individuals or make any statements without a vote of the committee.

Ballou lashed out at McMenimen and Callan for "intentionally and improperly" violating the MASC code of ethics with the intent to "play politics" when they spoke with the media about recent hazing allegations. In addition, he charged that the board members failed to remember their function as policy-makers and failed "to recognize and support the administration's chain of command and acted improperly upon complaints as individuals." Ballou also urged selectmen to file a suit against the Boston Globe for an article in its October 10 edition headlined "Reports Filed in Hazing Probe." He called the article "totally false." The board took no action.

After reading his statement, Ballou said "I'm totally disgusted with the performance of the Wilmington School Committee, namely Linda McMenimen and Shirley Callan." The selectman tried unsuccessfully to read his statement while full boards were present but Callan, Peg Kane, and Brad Jackson left immediately to attend an interview session of the superintendent candidates and did not hear his remarks.

His statement, however, was heard by the remaining members of the boards.

In reaction, McMenimen was brief saying only, "I don't think his words deserve comment." She added that she had no plans to resign.

Committee Chairman Bob Peterson accused Ballou of "grandstanding" and maintained the selectmen was improperly using his office to make a personal statement. To do such a thing, he said, "is absolutely, positively unconscionable."

Bob Cain defended Ballou's right to speak as a selectman. He said many residents have called him to complain about the way the allegations were played up in the press.

After the meeting, Ballou acknowledged his son, a senior, was on the football team and said, as a parent, he deplored the way the hazing issue was handled.

"My son had nothing to do with any of this. He's a leading scorer in the Merrimack Conference; I'm very proud of him," he said.

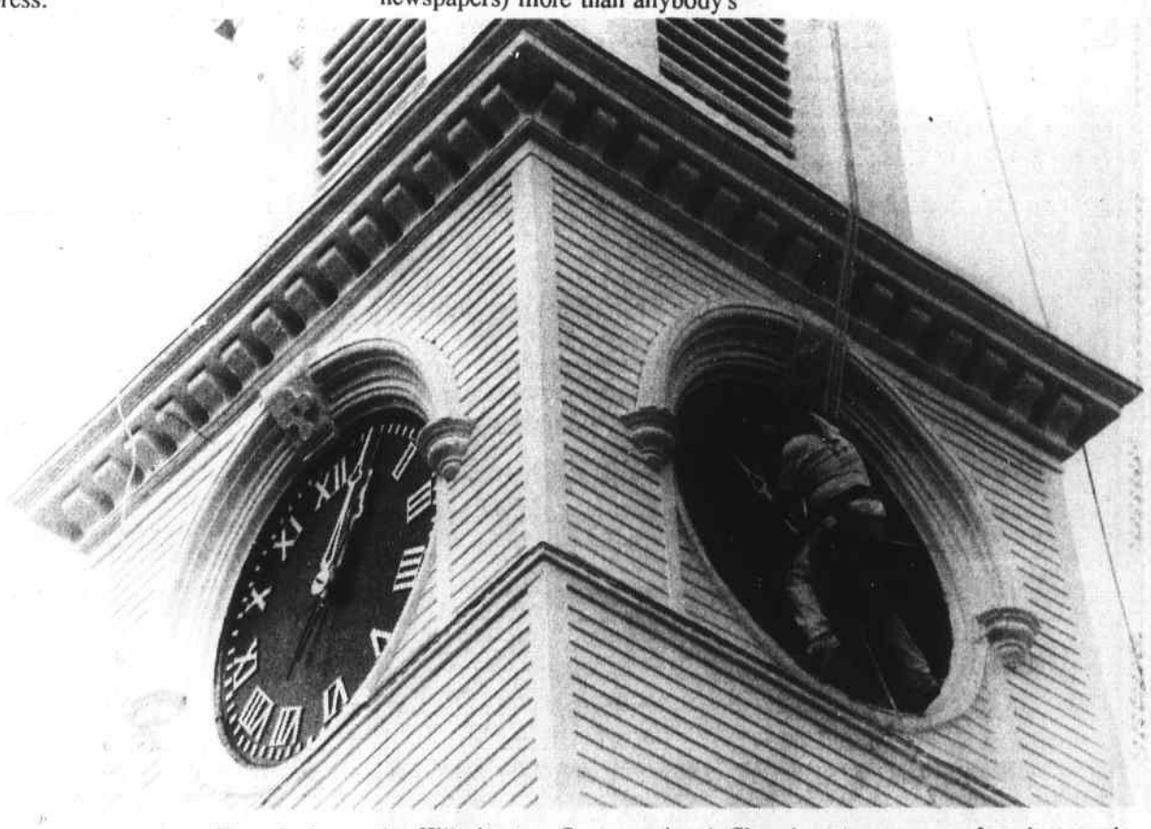

When asked why he singled out only two members of the committee, Ballou replied "their names were mentioned (in the newspapers) more than anybody's" and they made "inflammatory statements" to the media.

When asked why he wasn't equally angry over the alleged lack of supervision at the football camp, Ballou sidestepped the issue.

"It's not a question of fault. This is my town; I love it," he said.

Ballou explained that parents on Saturday asked him to take "a leading role in this."

ConCom lashes out at Tighe

by Arlene Surprenant

Frustrated conservation officials lashed out at developer Jay Tighe last week over a lack of compliance with an order of conditions placed on the Shawsheen River Estates (Shawsheen Commons) affordable housing project. Officials also asked who was to be held accountable for a number of wetlands violations on the Hopkins Road site.

Conservation commissioner Dennis Poltrino reminded Tighe that problems have been ongoing for the past five months. On September 11, the board's Conservation Specialist Anne Gagnon sent a letter to Tighe giving him 30 days to address 11 issues. They included such things as maintaining erosion controls and drainage basins, stabilizing large pine trees near the detention basin, loaming and seeding any disturbed area, removing tree stumps from the detention basin, and deeding over land which was promised to the commission. In addition, Gagnon said neither the commission nor the planning board had received weekly reports nor notice of any work changes as required.

A requirement to forward written reports on replanting was addressed at Wednesday's board meeting by Tighe's Environmental Planner Mary Trudeau. Trudeau said, because of overexcavation and resulting water sitting in the bottom of the replication area, many of the plants in the vicinity had drowned. The board agreed with Trudeau that replanting will have to wait until early spring due to the coming winter season. Tighe explained that Attorney Dan Brown was drawing up the deed for land along Dorchester Avenue. He added that the parcel could either be deeded to the commission or the town for affordable housing. Chairman Gary Mercer said he would prefer to keep the land as a buffer zone.

Poltrino was the most outspoken against Tighe's failure to respond to the board's concerns.

"I want to be able to have someone who is in charge of wetlands issues," he said.

Bill MacKinnon agreed.

"The question is who's running the show?" he asked. Later, MacKinnon said his main concern was stabilizing the subdivision raodway since alot of the gravel was reportedly washing toward the Shawsheen River.

Though he is one of the property owners, said Tighe, he was no longer in charge of conservation matters. He suggested sending a letter to Robert Donell of the Donell Construction Corp. in Ayer. Donell is reportedly the contractor of the project. Tighe added that most of the problems were "minor."

Poltrino urged that Donell be invited to the next meeting of the board on October 21.

"Please convey to Mr. Donell my frustration with this," he told Tighe, adding, "I'm starting to get teed off. It's being flaunted now. I am tired of dealing with the Shawsheen Estates issue."

At one point during the discussion, Tighe asked for more time to deal with the 11 concerns. Gagnon reminded him he had an October 11 deadline. However, Mercer suggested extending the deadline to allow Donell to visit the board. If the issues aren't addressed in a timely fashion, the board could have an enforcement order drawn up to force compliance.

In a related matter, Tighe reported to the Housing Partnership last week 62 of the 220 units have already been sold. Of those, 21 are affordable units. According to Planning/Conservation Director Lynn Duncan, Tighe said construction is behind schedule because the market rate units are not selling as fast as expected due to the economy.

Fleming disagrees with Fay's comments on hazing

by Arlene Surprenant

Wilmington High School Principal Paul Fleming last week took exception to statements made by Supt. William Fay regarding Fleming's investigation into the August hazing incident.

Fay had told this paper the process followed by Fleming was to break down students interviewed into one of four categories: victims, perpetrators, casual observors, and those who knew nothing about the incidents.

"What he said was totally inaccurate. I made a change in the premise; he knew that," Fleming said.

The principal explained that, in talking to the school committee's attorney and the parents, he and Assistant Principal Edward Woods revised the process in order to be "as fair as possible." Fleming said he went strictly by the hazing policy outlined in the high school handbook. According to the hazing law in the handbook, anyone who is "a principle organizer or participant" or who "knows that another person is the victim of hazing... and is at the scene of such a crime" and fails to report the incident to a law officer is culpable. Punishment for those charged with hazing at Wilmington High is five days out of school suspension plus removal from the sports activity.

Fleming stressed several times that Fay "does not speak for me" and reminded this paper that "I was the one charged with the investigation of the kids." The school committee did ask Fleming to investigate and discipline those students involved in the hazing and Fay to investigate the supervision at the summer football camp. However, Fay said he planned to review Fleming's report and give parents the right to appeal his decision.

Both reports have been forwarded to members of the school board, who refused to discuss the details with the Town Crier. They said they would have a statement to make during Wednesday's board meeting. According to Chairman Bob Peterson, much of the discussion on Fay's and Fleming's findings will most likely take place in executive session.

Food pantry calls for help

by Arlene Surprenant

Wilmington's food pantry has put out an urgent call for help this week, National Hunger Week.

According to Bob DiPalma, one of The Commissary founders, shelves are pretty bare of everything but spaghetti. Especially needed are canned pasta and other canned items, peanut butter, jelly, spaghetti sauce, mayonnaise, tuna fish, and canned drinks. The Commissary also stocks such things as baby food, Pampers, packaged foods and cereals.

Anyone wishing to make either a cash donation or a food contribution should bring it to The Commissary located in the old Swain School on Middlesex Avenue on Saturdays between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Donations of a few food items only may be placed in mailboxes for pickup by the local post office or in scattered containers in various locations throughout Wilmington.

Any Wilmington resident who is unemployed or in need of a bag of food is welcome to visit The Commissary on Wednesdays between 7 pm. and 9 p.m.

It's YOUR Money

MOVING RETIREMENT MONEY

There's a new gimmick on pension plan payouts that could cost you if you aren't careful. Starting in January, lump sum distributions from pension, profit sharing and 401(k) plans are subject to a 20 percent withholding tax. It affects hardship withdrawals from 401(k)s, too.

There is currently a 60 day period in which the employee can have use of the money, as long as it is rolled over before the deadline into another I.R.A. Under the new rule, though, 20 percent of the lump sum would be withheld. In order to avoid taxes, the employee would have to replace that 20 percent in the I.R.A. rollover to make up the original total. If the employee is younger than 59 1/2, he or she would also be liable for a 10 percent penalty on the taxable amount.

There is a way out: avoid a rollover and have the money transferred directly to another plan or I.R.A. so it remains tax deferred. If you need the money, it's more advantageous tax wise to move it to an I.R.A. and then take a legal 60 day rollover from that.

Protect your pension money. Talk to the tax wise folks at

'New' Wilmington Post Office opened October 15

The Wilmington Post office, the "New" Wilmington Post office, will be in full operation this morning, October 15.

Postmaster Jake Quinn, on June 16 "closed" the old post office. The closure was part of a larger operation planned for improvement of the postal service.

All incoming mail, and all outgoing mail is now distributed through a branch post office in Woburn. All Wilmington postal carriers, both rural free delivery and city carriers, go to the Woburn branch office every morning to get their mail. They start their delivery routes from that office.

During the past four months Wilmington postal patrons have been getting their post office box mail from the "back" of the former post office. A special "outdoor" office was established for the purpose of sale of stamps, and for other postal services.

Now, effective Thursday morning, all patrons will use the front door. Mail boxes will be to the right, in an area which can be called "spacious." Postal services, such as sale of stamps, will be to the left.

There will be, no longer, "combination" mail boxes, such as has existed in Wilmington for the past century.

The mail boxes are now all to be unlocked by a key. The keys are new. All former keys should be turned in to the postal clerk. In fact an exchange of keys has been in effect for the past week.

There are about 40 postal employees working out of the Wilmington Post Office.

Home addition raises concern

by Arlene Surprenant

Lack of space and a potential impact to nearby wetlands made members of the Wilmington Conservation Commission frown on a plan to build a garage and an addition to an existing home within the 100 foot buffer zone. The home is located on Mill Road.

At their meeting last week, commissioners expressed their concern to applicant Patricia Von Blarcom and her Environmental Biologist, Joseph Cushing. Cushing explained the addition would be constructed on the side of the home nearest the wetland because that is where the living quarters are. The applicant proposes installing a retaining wall, a siltation fence to act as an erosion control, and a trench to stop any silt from moving toward the wetlands. In addition, the homeowner will put in mulch and vegetation, said Cushing. If the plan is followed, added the biologist, there would be no alteration to the existing wetlands.

Commissioners weren't so sure.

"We're talking a large excavation out there," noted Chairman Gary Mercer. He said the retaining wall would be on the edge of the wetalnds and floorings would be a minimum of four feet deep and five to six feet wide.

"We've got to be comfortable there's room in there to do all this," he added.

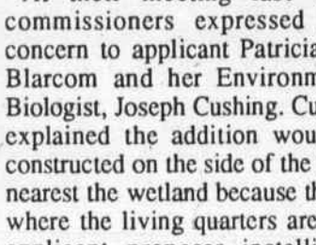

Dennis Poltrino asked if the proponent would compromise and put the addition on the other side of the house. The owner, said Cushing, prefers to leave the plan as is. Poltrino next questioned the drainage calculations and maintained the work would impact the wetlands. Bill Gately asked Cushing to get an opinion on the plan from the building inspector. Conservation Specialist Anne Gagnon noted there was some erosion on site due to a steep slope and there had been some recent dumping of brush and leaves in the wetlands.

A site visit was set for October 18. The hearing will continue at the board's next meeting October 21.

Housing project will go out to bid

by Arlene Surprenant

Plans are moving forward to build up to seven affordable homes on Avon Street and Denault Drive in Wilmington.

At last week's meeting of the Wilmington Housing Partnership, members reviewed evaluation criteria and made some revisions in guidelines which will be given to builders interested in submitting a bid on the work. According to Planning/Conservation Director Lynn Duncan, members felt, in addition to the other requirements, it would be advisable to exceed size requirements for the rooms and to build a handicapped unit. Members also emphasized it would be desirable for interested developers to spend some time getting to know each area so the homes will blend in with the neighborhoods, said Duncan.

The director told this paper one of the lots on Avon Street has already passed a percolation test. The other parcel has yet to be tested. One pressing need, added Duncan, was the construction of a roadway for the Avon Street lot which has no frontage.

Neighbors of the two homes proposed for Denault Drive had complained during the summer about noise from the nearby Textron plant and the need to retain a buffer. Duncan said the health director had taken nine different noise meter readings in the vicinity and found the area along the Textron fence did exceed acceptable noise levels. Duncan said the director will notify Textron to address the problem.

Though a timeline has been drawn up for the project, Duncan noted everything was about two months behind schedule. She explained construction should get underway next summer. At their November 12 meeting board members will finalize their Request for Proposals and bids should go out by November, said Duncan. Builders will have between six to eight weeks to submit their proposals so that the Partnership can review them in February. Duncan explained once a developer is chosen for the work he will hold public hearings and go through the comprehensive permit process.

The director stressed she was happy with the cooperation she had received from the engineering and health departments as well as from the Department of Public Works. She said also the Partnership was trying to work with neighbors to incorporate some of their suggestions into the plans.

Tewksbury artists in Lowell showing

Several well known Tewksbury artists will participate in a multi-media 10th Anniversary Retrospective Exhibition at The Brush Art Gallery in Lowell. They include Mary Ann Matthews, Audrey Trull, Shirley Winslow, Jay Connolly, Karen Gagne, Brent Karner and Mico Kaufman.

The Exhibition, which showcases the works of 35 artists and craftspeople from Mass., N.H., who have been associated with the Brush since 1982, opened October 1 from 6 to 9 and will continue through Nov. 6 Tues-Sun from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Retrospective is made possible in part by the generosity of the Tewksbury Arts Lottery Council and following the exhibition, the work of all Tewksbury artists will be exhibited in the Tewksbury Library.

"The Retrospective will be very exciting," says exhibit curator, Karen Gagne of Tewksbury, a weaver and fiber artist who has been a Brush artist-in-residence since the beginning, "this event will bring together all the painters, sculptors, jewelers, potters, quilters, furniture makers, and other talented people whose presence at The Brush have made its 10 years possible. Each will have two or more pieces in the show. Visitors will be fascinated with the quality of work, variety of styles, and diversity of mediums."

The fact that The Brush, an arts cooperative, has been active for 10 years is reason to celebrate. Created by the Lowell Historic Preservation Commission a decade ago, The brush is a "living experience" featuring work and exhibit space for artists-in-residence, plus a central gallery. Admission is free to the public and visitors are invited to enter studios, speak with the artists, and watch them as they create. In addition to the artists-in-residence program; The brush has associate members, artists who are active but do not have on-site studios, and a regular membership open to everyone interested in arts and fine handcrafts. The Brush maintains a dynamic schedule of seven to eight rotating exhibitions per year, classes in all media, art tours, and a small, but excellent gift shop where visitors can purchase the work of studio and associate artists at reasonable prices. Each year, from Nov. through Dec., the gallery converts into a splendid holiday marketplace.

The Brush is located at 256 Market St., Lowell. Regular hours are Tues. through Sat., 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sun. noon to 5 p.m. There is ample free parking. For information call (508) 459-7819.

Retirement party for Tewksbury patrolmen

by Bill Conlon

After years of keeping the peace in town, two of Tewksbury's finest will be hanging up their badges.

A retirement party is planned for Friday, October 30, at the Tewksbury-Wilmington Lodge of Elks on South Street, to honor Tewksbury Police Officers Robert Haines and Jimmy Jones.

Inspector Haines began working on the force in 1956, and Officer Jones in 1962, meaning the two have been patrolling the streets of Tewksbury since before many of the current patrolmen were born.

The next longest term of service is held by Lt. Paul Gearty, who has been on the job since 1966.

Tickets for the retirement party are on sale at the Tewksbury police station on Main Street. Ask for Lt. Warren Layne, or call 640-4381.

Professional critics

Reimbursement sought for gas spill costs

by Arlene Surprenant

Wilmington officials are seeking reimbursement for the town's costs in assisting with the September 30 accident and gas spill on Route 93, according to Town Manager Michael Caira.

In a preliminary report to the board of selectmen Tuesday, Caira said officials will continue to meet to determine what the cost will be of such things as time, manpower, and vehicles. Gulf Oil, he said, is paying freight costs to all towns who responded to the emergency.

Though 11,000 gallons of oil was actually spilled, Caira assured local citizens "Wilmington's water supply was never in jeopardy." As a precaution, however, three Wilmington wells were shut down and only put back into service October 8. Reading, he added, has not suffered any difficulties with their water quality despite fears that the spill would affect that town's water.

"The action was very very quick and very very successful," Caira said. He went on to praise Wilmington's emergency response team saying that, "everyone really proved that in a crisis they were very well prepared."

Now, he explained, Gulf Oil has begun remediation of contaminated soil in the area and the clean-up effort will be ongoing for "quite some time." On October 16 there will be a region-wide critique scheduled to review the entire situation, said Caira.

Housing director vote Tuesday

by Arlene Surprenant

Two candidates for executive director of the Wilmington Housing Authority will be presented to the entire board at its meeting next Tuesday. Ken Dorrance, a former director of the authority, and local resident Odette Kent, are in the running to replace current director Ella Belmore.

WHA Chairman Tom Siracusa said this week the search subcommittee has made a decision.

"There is a consensus. They will meet this week and finalize what they will present to the board," said the chairman.

Siracusa said the subcommittee will recommend only one candidate for the position. Authority members will make the final decision. Siracusa added that he himself will meet with Deming Way tenants to get a sense of who they favor for the position.

Once the successful candidate is chosen, a contract will be drawn up and submitted to the Executive Office of Communities and Development for approval.

"It should be relatively quick," said Siracusa, adding he anticipated having a new director by November 1.

Affordable duplex construction set for start

by Arlene Surprenant

Construction of an affordable duplex on Silverhurst Avenue is expected to get underway soon. Wilmington officials are just waiting for approval from the Executive Office of Communities and Development.

Because the home is being built by Thomas Realty Trust under the state's Local Initiative Program, approval is required to assure the two units will remain affordable. Planning/Conservation Director Lynn Duncan said she should hear from the state sometime this week.

The whole project is being overseen by the Wilmington Housing Partnership. There has been some delay in getting the home built. Public hearings were held a year ago and proponents already have gone through the process to obtain a comprehensive permit from the board of appeals.

"It has languished somewhat on the back burner," admitted Duncan. But, she added, construction will begin as soon as possible and a lottery will be held at the same time to choose the new homeowners.

Both units will sell for an affordable $87,800 each, said the director. The home itself is a split with a single entry to look like a single family home. The Partnership required that the home be set back further on the lot to minimize impact to the neighborhood.

The Blue-Laws Blues

It was a shirking of responsiblity to say nothing of putting local chiefs of police in hot-seats they don't - and we don't - deserve, when the powers at Beacon Hill decided that merchants could open on the Columbus Day Holiday IF local police chiefs gave their blessing. This, because we are a state which will forever cling to its' constrictive puritanical roots, worshiping the regulatory - and foolish - blue laws.

In Wilmington and Tewksbury the chiefs acted wisely, and business went on as usual. There was the opportunity for retailers to earn money, and for the sagging economy's sake, shoppers spend it . . . we hope. But in nearby Burlington, the mecca of malls was closed as a chief made a great decision from the perspective of shop owners at the Pheasant Lane in blueless New Hampshire. (If you drove needlessly to the B.M., send your protest to Chief Cole, care of Burlington P.D.)

The state legislature and governor should take a better, more prudent approach - abolish this anachronism called the blue laws all together. Government's role is not to encourage our church attendance by closing the local mall. People, and yes, businesses, can decide for themselves how to spend the holidays.

The blue laws are so archaic it's pathetic. They're a vestage of a day gone by and supported by no one, with some contemporary pharisees as exceptions. Further, they're an economic handicap in a state bordered by others which do not maintain absurd and inane statutes on their law books.

The civil-libertarian minded Governor William F. Weld should consider scrapping the blue laws in the only state to have them.

Briefly in Politics. . .

It was a six to five vote for Paul Palizzolo Tuesday night, elevating the former finance committee member to the school committee. Palizzolo joins the education board at its' most critical juncture in years. Members are searching for a new superintendent and may have to fight-back a new-born recall petition threatened unexpectedly on Tuesday night by Selectman Dan Ballou.

But first . . . Palizzolo's victory.

It was predicted hours before the event as word leaked that the so-called deciding vote of Gerry Duggan's would swing Palizzolo's way, despite the fact that the other contender, Aldo Caira, had lost his re-election bid by a mere four votes last year.

Pundits at town hall were speculating this week that Duggan felt obligated to show his independence from the Caira political machine, having just supported Town Manager Mike Caira's contract. The TM's new package came complete with a $10,000 hors d'oeuvre, which raised eyebrows in a town with a painful eight percent unemployment rate.

The votes for Caira, School Committee Members Peterson and Fenton and Selectmen Ballou, Haldane and Cain were no surprise.

Palizzolo's support was a political potpourri of advocates, and those simply trying to stymie Caira's attempt at political resurrection. Selectman Chet Bruce, a proud-to-be protege of Rep. James Robert Miceli, sparked little attention when he went with Palizzolo, as was the case with school committee members Callan, Kane and McMenimen.

Palizzolo said last week that he was aware of the lobbying support he had received from Miceli and local activist Anne Linehan, but said "it was unsolicited."

If there was one winning-side official who voted more pro-Palizzolo than anti-Caira, it was Brad Jackson, who worked closely with Palizzolo on the finance committee.

. . . And as for the recall, that ominous threat came like a bull into a china shop when Selectman Dan Ballou, appearing flustered and outraged, demanded the immediate resignations of school committee members Shirley Callan and Linda McMenimen. Their crimes, charged Ballou, are alleged leaks to the press surrounding details of the football camp hazing incident.

Ballou is a close friend of Ed Harrison's, the football coach who may or may not survive this escalating batttle which has football parents flinching and some committee members looking for a sacrificial lamb.

Ballou won't hold his breath for the resignations, but his Tuesday night political air-raid is the first strike in a new political crossfire which has erupted from this controversy.

. . . If you're still holding out hope for a Nick Mavroules comeback, you weren't "moving to the Herald," as they say, on Monday. The sixth district congressman, who suffers the plague of a seventeen count indictment hanging over his head, may have been dealt the fatal blow when the Boston tabloid carried the transcript of an alleged conversation between Mavroules and his infamous son-in-law Andrew Gerakaris. Federal prosecutors plan to use the tape of a 1985 conversation between the Peabody lawmaker and Gerakaris arranging for a meeting to pick-up a bribe payment to Mavroules.

Prosecutors charge that Mavroules received bribes from the Karahalis family in exchange for using his influence to have Michael Karahalis transfered to a federal prison closer to his family in Florida.

Mavroules' lawyers have disputed the authenticity of the tape and described it as a "fairy tale."

Meanwhile, Mavroules' Republican challenger Peter Torkildsen received a boost last week when U.S. Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole came to Boston to endorse the former Danvers legislator.

letter to the editor

Dear Larz:

Judging from the correspondence that I received from Rep. Miceli, our local Conservation Commission is not looking out for the interested of the citizens of Wilmington. I submit this correspondence for your own judgment.

I have, however, found out where you put a septic tank in a swamp. You put it above ground level. When you pass the house on Woburn Street, you will see a huge mound in front of the house. That is the septic tank!

letters to the editor

Dear Larz:

The October 13 protest at the State House concerning the enormous MWRA rate increases is long overdue. These confiscatory charges on 43 Mass. communities, while personal income is going down and unemployment is going up, has or will cause severe financial hardship on many of the 2.6 million people living in these communities.

However, instead of proposing that the state or federal government pay a larger share of the $6 billion Boston Harbor cleanup, perhaps they should turn their attention toward cutting the costs of the project.

There is a possibility for $2 billion in savings by eliminating the secondary treatment plant. According to some civil engineers this is an example of environmental overkill. Since the harbor can be cleaned up with a primary treatment system, the expense of an additional purifying system is simply unnecessary. Indeed, in the October 1991 MWRA bond prospectus. "The Authority's Environmental Quality Department reports that the inner Boston Harbor came very close to meeting water quality standards for swimming and fishing during the summer of 1990." Since then, the Authority has ceased pumping sludge into the Boston Harbor which has improved the quality of the water even more.

The contract for the $2 billion secondary treatment plant has not been awarded yet but it will be, unless an appeal is made to the Federal Court that ordered the Boston Harbor cleanup and approved the schedule and equipment to do so.

This $2 billion reduction in project costs could save ratepayers $400 to $600 a year but the current project plan must be appealed and the court must be convinced that the cleanup of the harbor has proceeded faster than expected and thus future rate increases, to pay for the secondary treatment plant, are unnecessary.

Sincerely,
Lawrence A. Overlan

Dear Larz:

Much blame is being heaped upon Congress for its failure to solve the serious problems facing this country, especially unemployment. Many people feel that changes in the law pertaining to campaign contributions would make Congress more effective. As pointed out below, that is probably not being very realistic.

Since the coming of television a candidate for Congress requires huge sums of money to pay for television advertising to get elected.

An examination of the public records of the campaign contributions to any candidate for Congress will show that 99 percent of the people eligible to vote for that candidate; altogether contribute less than five percent of the total amount contributed to his campaign.

Therefore it should be easy to understand why a majority of the members of Congress will devote the majority of their time and effort taking care of the interests of the few people and special interest groups who put up the money to get them elected.

Even if a law was passed prohibiting financial contributions to these candidates, only the rich could afford to run for Congress. They would naturally be inclined to pass laws favoring the rich.

Any law limiting the amount of money a candidate could spend would be unconstitutional because it would be a restriction on the freedom of speech and the freedom of the press which is prohibited by the Constitution.

Fortunately there is a method by which voters could exert enough influence over Congress to get that body to pass many more laws to solve this country's most serious problems, rather than so many laws for the benefit of the few who put up the money to get these members elected. This method would work if only enough voters could be made aware of it.

This method is explained in an article entitled, "How We, As Voters Could Get Back Control Over Our Government." Anyone wanting a free copy of this article can write to me at Box 127 Gillette, WY 82717-0127.

Sincerely,
Stephen Tarver

Dear Larz:

It is well known that screening of candidates to fill the position of executive director of the Wilmington Housing Authority is being conducted by a search committee comprised of WHA Commissioners Al Meegan and Dot Butler, and Tenants Association President Anna Stanley.

In her article "D.A. query delays search process" in the Sept. 30, 1992 edition of the Town Crier, Arlene Surprenant reported on a search committee meeting which she did not attend. Her coverage of me at that meeting was grossly inaccurate. She did not attempt to talk to me before going to print. Her information was taken from an incomplete rough draft of a transcript of that meeting which has since been corrected.

If Mrs. Surprenant is really concerned about factual reporting, I wonder why she didn't report that search committee meetings were being held in the Town Hall instead of at the regular meeting place on Deming Way where housing authority business should be conducted? She didn't mention that one search committee meeting, which was not posted was held in a commissioner's home. There was also no mention of why candidates' applications are being sent to a WHA commissioner's home and not the office where such important information would be logged in and become public record.

My main concern is that the above mentioned tactics exclude some housing authority commissioners, including myself, and most of all, the public who elected us to serve them.

The October 13, 1982 edition of the Town Crier of Tewksbury noted that:

It was apple picking time for students at the North Street School and Michael Lenihan of Vale Street and John Orzechowski of Quincy Road were pictured harvesting them at Daley's Farm on Whipple Road. Apples picked by the youngsters would be among the highlights of the school's upcoming Apple Fair.

Father Joseph Blancy OMI, was serving as pastor of St. William's Church, hoping to return to the field of education when his clerical duties in Tewksbury ceased, around 1986. He was preparing his doctoral theises.

Town Clerk Elizabeth Carey completed her second summer of a three year term for professional

Several Tewksbury residents were among the 1352 employees of Raytheon who were honored for having completed 25 years of service to the company:

Christian Bolgen, Vale Street; William Burke, Oliver Street; Robert Campbell, Boisvert Road; Raymond Cobleigh, Cobleigh Drive; George Higgins, Brook Street; Louis LaVallee, Jr., Cobleigh Drive; Claire Lisacchi, Vernon Street; William McAllister, East Street; Eugene Moore, Foster Road; Spero Siopes, Rosemary Road; Michael Sullivan, Chandler Street; John McLennon, School Street.

Kim St. John of Oliver Street was honored by local Rotarians after she was named second runner up in a Miss Teenage Pageant.

The October 19, 1967 edition of the Town Crier of Wilmington noted that:

Robert Odams of Oakdale Road was appointed comptroller of Dean Junior College in Franklin.

The Rev. Robert Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church was pictured "putting in a stint of labor," forwarding the erection of the new church on Church Street.

Joseph Sevellite of Medford, driving a 10 ton truck of fish scraps from the Boston Fish Pier to the Usen Canning Co. (Tabby Cat), was "bugged" by a Volkswagen and the mishap that resulted poured the fish scraps all over Route 93, beneath the West Street bridge. Fortunately, noone was injured, but the mixture of fish oil and water, slippery.....had to be dealt with.

For more than 24 hours trucks from the Commonwealth scattered sand on Route 93 from the West Street bridge to the intersection of Route 62, five miles north. It was the worst traffic tieup in years on Route 93.

Newly installed officers of the Order of Rainbow for Girls were pictured: Pat Barden, Worthy Advisor; Nancy Bryant, Worthy Associate Advisor; Carol Hezlitt, Charity; Judy Connors, Hope and Judy Hezlitt, Faith.

The biggest business in Wilmington, in terms of land area was the Benevento Gravel Pit in No. Wilmington with a total area of about 205 acres.

Linda Thebeau of Suncrest Avenue was attending the Wyndham School in Boston.

A letter signed by Hugh Wiberg asked: "What happened? How come Wilmington's football team lost to Dracut? Certainly not because we didn't have a field goal kicker. My anemic, twiggy shaped 10 year old daughter can kick them from the seven yard line, even with two goal posts set back 10 yards from the end line!"

Christian Stuart Neilson of High Street was among 90 youths sworn into the Navy on Navy Day, Oct. 27, at Bunker Hill Monument in Boston.

Elia's Market offered apples, MacIntosh, Cortland, Delicious, four pound bag, 39 cents; Fresh Farm, cottage cheese, half pound package, 10 cents; half gallon of milk, 45 cents and apple cider, 79 cents a gallon.

Wilmington school news

West Intermediate

The West Intermediate School has announced that 15 seventh graders qualified to participate in the Johns Hopkins University 1993 CTY Talent Search. The purpose of the talent search is to look for exceptional mathematical and/or verbal reasoning abilities among seventh grade age students and to provide them with opportunities to excel. These students have the opportunity to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) early, in January 1993 at a regional placement. In order to qualify, age appropriate students have had to score in the 97th to 99th percentiles (using national norms) of their most recent standardized aptitude or achievement tests. The Iowa Test of Basic Skills from the fifth grade was the instrument used to determine student eligibility in Wilmington. Only seven subtests were applicable: math concepts, math problem solving, math total, reading, complete composite, social studies, and science scores.

Congratulations to: Alexander Bromley, Bernard Cote, Tarryn Daisy, Kristin Flynn, Ryan Harrison, Kim Johnson, Todd Konieczka, Cheryl Lecesse, Keith MacDonald, Joseph Marsoobian, Sarah Powers. Rebecca Rogers, Brian Thresher, Charles Vallas, and Jamie Walsh. Please note that this is a purely optional program for parents/students to explore.

The monthly P.A.C. meeting at the Wilmington's West Intermediate School will be held Wednesday, October 21 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the school library.

All parents are encouraged to attend the meeting.

Subdivision planned for Hopkins Street

by Arlene Surprenant

The Wilmington Planning Board last Tuesday received a definitive subdivision plan for Highland Estates. The seven lot subdivision will be built on Hopkins Street. The applicant is James Castellano of JVC Realty Trust

The property was rezoned from R60 to R20 at the April town meeting, said board members. They also pointed out that the applicant, who was not present, is not requesting waivers.

The proposal will now be sent to various town boards for comment. A public hearing on the plan has been scheduled for November 17.

Hair is the Total You

GRAY AREAS
By Lisa Anderson

There are a number of myths surrounding gray hair that deserve some explanation. Among them: a person cannot go gray overnight. a traumatic event, however, or severe illness with high fever can cause a sudden and excessive hair loss (500 to 600 hairs daily). The hair that grows back after the loss may be gray, accounting for widespread graying over a period of several weeks. Stress is unlikely to increase the number of gray hairs, unless it is quite severe. Such illnesses as thyroid disorders and flare-ups of inflammatory bowel disease can cause graying because they can cause changes in hair pigmentation. Lastly, blond hair does not necessarily turn yellowish as it grays. Metals in water may deposit themselves on the hair shaft and appear yellow on white hair.

If you are interested in giving your graying hair a new lift, let our trained stylists show you the entire Matrix® line of exciting hair colors, including the semi-permanent Socolors. Come to SHAWSHEEN HAIR SALON for a complete line of Matrix products, including Systeme Biolage®, a natural approach to beautiful hair. We're conveniently located at 161 Shawsheen Ave., Rt. 129, Wilmington, and we're open six days and nights a week. Closed Sundays.

$5.00 off any service with Maz with this column; $1.00 off SoSilver® Shampoo. Exp. 10/31/92.

HINT: Prematurely gray hair is not at all related to advanced aging of the body.

Dinner honors Emblem president

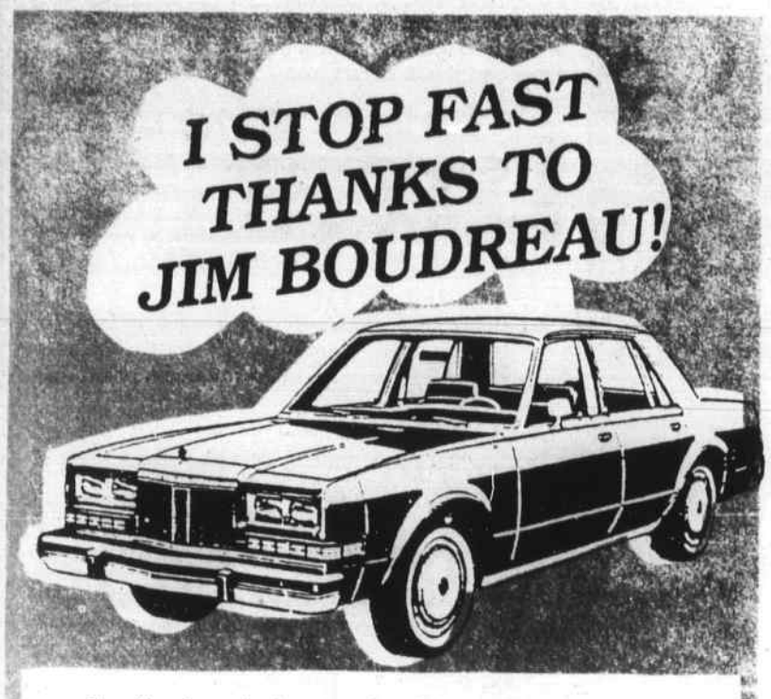

Members of Tewksbury/Wilmington Emblem Club #381 recently honored Supreme President Ruby Butler of Glendale, Calif during a testimonial dinner given by the Mass. State Assoc. of Emblem Clubs at Lantana's in Randolph.

Ruby Butler,National President of the Supreme Emblem Club of the United States of America, Past President of Glendale, Ca #104, and Past State President of California/Nevada and Hawaii, is currently on tour of the New England States. She has been busy installing officers in many Emblem Clubs throughout the states of Mass., Maine, and N.H. as well as making many visitations. Aside from conducting business Ruby has been enlightened with escorted tours of many historic sites throughout the Commonwealth.

Supreme President Ruby was treated to a nice meal of zitti and turkey dinner served family style with all you could eat. Mary DiFazio, Supreme Ass't. Organist from Cambridge Emblem Club entertain the audience with her melodious music. Betty Grobel, State First Vice President and Chairman of the evening, gave the welcoming address with a little history lesson of Massachusetts thrown in.

Ruby, a soft spoken lady with a southern accent, inspired her audience during her acceptance speech, with a bit of humor. In recapping one of her quotes she said, "I know you have a Charles River for I have been over it, under it, and around it!" Ruby didn't know what a rotary was, but has since learned. She's also learned about forks in the road and knots in the trees, something California apparently doesn't have.

Several hundred officers and members of Emblem Clubs throughout the state honored Ruby with their presence as well as their gifts. President Grace Fitzgerald representing the membership of Tewksbury/Wilmington Emblem Club #381 made a monetary gift presentation. Other members of Tewksbury-Wilmington Emblem Club honoring Supreme President Ruby were Past State President Elsa Criscitello, Jr. Past President Lucy Rondeau, and Marshall Joyce Gigliotti.

United Methodist Fair Oct. 24

Mark your calendars now for the upcoming "World's Fair" at the Wilmington United Methodist Church on Saturday, October 24. The public is invited to browse from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the annual church fair and to bring home some baked goods, bargains, and early holiday gifts and decorations.

The World's Fair theme is in honor of United Nations' Day, which will fall on that same day. All booths located downstairs will represent a different country, though items sold will not be from those countries. Instead, each organization in the church will be offering their specialty from holiday crafts and decorations, costume jewelry, and hand knit items, to coffee mugs featuring a picture of the church, and homemade fudge and chili with baked beans. Upstairs, fairgoers in search of a bargain will be rewarded with tables full of reasonable White Elephant items.

The traditional Lobster Roll Luncheon will be served starting at 11 a.m. Takeout will also be available.

Apple Country Fair Oct. 24

Celebrate fall at the St. Elizabeth's Episcopal Chapel first annual Apple Country Fair, Oct. 24 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., located at the corner of Forest Street (off Route 62) and Aldrich Road (off Route 38), Wilmington. This year's fair features a selection of raffle items with something for everyone. Kids will want the sports collection of balls which includes soccer and tennis balls, a basketball, baseball, football, bat and t-ball set. A beautiful off white, hand crocheted and intricately designed afghan, a Christmas tree skirt, a homemade traditional English Christmas fruitcake, a five foot Santa, and a $25 FTD gift certificate for flowers complete this year's raffle table.

After raffle tickets are purchased, sit down and enjoy a piece of homemade apple pie ala mode before you browse through the apple country store or search for the perfect white elephant. Free samples of apple cider will be waiting from the antique cider press to go along with cookies from the cookie walk or bake table goodies. Come and join the fun. Admission is free.

Conservation Commission tables discussion on Winston Ave. parcel

by Arlene Surprenant

Members of the Wilmington Conservation Commission on Wednesday tabled further discussion on a parcel of land until more information is forthcoming. The parcel is located on Winston Avenue off Forrest Street.

The property is owned by Daniel Gillis but is under a purchase and sales agreement with James Mackey. Mackey wants to build a home and septic system within the wetlands and 100 foot buffer zone. Mackey's engineer Michael Cuneo told the commission, while he proposes to fill within the open field, there will be a 440 foot replication area.

Conservation Specialist Anne Gagnon noted that a portion of the wetlands had been disturbed and will need some revegetation. She said, since the wetlands is an estimated habitat area for rare species, the board would need to notify and receive comment from Massachusetts Natural Heritage. In addition, Gagnon said, commissioners would need to see approval of the septic system from the board of health.

Cuneo suggested putting bolders along the wetlands to act as a line of demarcation. Some members agreed.

Commissioners reserved further comment on the Notice of Intent until they have the septic approval and more replication information. Members will also pay a visit to the site.

Local artist in art demonstration

Shirley Winslow, a well known and highly respected professional artist of Tewksbury will give a demonstration in pastel portraiture at the Wilmington Center for the Arts on Wednesday, October 21, 1992 at 7:30 p.m. She will work from life, using her 16-year-old daughter as a model.

Ms. Winslow is a member of the Copley Society of Boston, the Concord Art Association and the Chelmsford and Reading Art Associations. She has exhibited in regional and national juried shows, including the prestigious Salmagundi Club in New York City. Her work, in watercolor landscape and figures, and pastel figures and portraits can be seen locally at The Brush Gallery in Lowell, at Churchill's Fine Art in Newburyport, and through Art 3 in Manchester, N.H.

Ms. Winslow is currently offering classes in watercolor for beginner and intermediate students, through the Wilmington Arts Council and in her home at 14 Cobleigh Dr., Tewksbury.

As usual, this event sponsored by the Arts Council will be offered free of charge and all are welcome.

Commissioners to meet

The Commissioners meeting will be held in the function room of the Buzzell Senior Center Tuesday, Oct. 20. The meeting will begin at 2:30.

Look 'em over, lend an ear..

After the business meeting is over candidates seeking votes on November 3 have been invited to answer our questions on how they are going to serve us if elected to office. Before we vote it is our right and duty to learn as much as we can about all the candidates. That is the only way we can cast our vote with assurance that this is the one we want to serve us.

Surplus commodities

Surplus commodities will be distributed Thursday, Oct. 22 at the Buzzell Senior Center beginning at 10 a.m. Proof of qualification must be shown - Medicaid card, food stamps, welfare or general relief cards, SSI and fuel assistance. Our order has been cut on some items, therefore we will be running out early on those particular things. Butter will be received in the full amount.

Fuel assistance

Fuel assistance applications have arrive for seniors who have not applied before. These applications will be made out on appointment only. Remember, if you feel you qualify I have to have a copy of your income. That is Social Security, pensions and pay stubs (if you are working). If your Social Security check goes directly to the bank, your statement with the deposit on it will be enough.

The qualifying amounts are the same as last year. That is for a house hold of one, $11,918 and for a household of two it is $16,083. The amount of assistance you receive has not been finalized yet. It is the hope of CTI the Congress will increase the last figures received. All recipients and their families should be calling their congressmen and Senators to vote for an increase of money for this program .

Under 60?

I do not have time to make out applications for persons under 60 years of age. Those below the age of 60 will have to go to Billerica where a representative from CTI will be available to help you in the town hall.

Crime prevention

Attorney General Scott Harshbarger is setting a major priority to do all he can to protect the elderly from crime and victimization in all its forms. He has found as attorney general elders are being targeted more and more as victims of financial exploitation, consumer fraud, Medicaid fraud, long term health care insurance scams, abuse, neglect, and home improvement scams. He is finding year after year the incidents are increasing rapidly as the number of elders increase rapidly. Today there are more than 30 million Americans over the age of 65, by the year 2000 there will be 35 million and the long range statistics predict that number will triple over the next 50 years.

Elder abuse

Unfortunately the attorney general says that only 11,000 cases of elderly abuse are reported annually, when it is believed an additional 1.4 million cases go unreported. He says he feels if the elderly will follow a few tips they can help protect themselves a little better.

Tips

Ask questions of anyone who wants to sell you something. Do not answer the door to anyone unless you know them. Don't buy anything over the telephone. Report any type of abuse or scam to the police against you or someone you know , no matter who the abuser is. Do not isolate yourself, get out of your house, go to the center, make friends, especially if you are alone.

Have someone you can call when family do not live close enough to help you when needed. Do not give to charities soliciting money; check with the police department to see if they have been allowed to ask for donations. And never give a donation to any charity in cash if you know the person is a qualified representative give a check. Or tell them you will send a check yourself.

Pilcher lives on Butters Row

Michael Pilcher, 18, of Butters Row, Wilmington was not injured on October 9 when his car struck a tree in Dracut. It was an unfortunate accident, but with a funny twist. The accident occurred about 12:30 a.m.

Pilcher told the police that he had been cut off by an unknown vehicle, and lost control. His 1980 Chevrolet had been cut in half, at the windshield. Police said that alcohol was not a factor in the accident.

A "funny twist" resulted from the spelling of Pilcher's address, in a newspaper report. That paper said he lived on Buttress Row.

There is only one street in the United States that is named "Butters Row." It is so named because of the many members of Wilmington's Butters family who have lived in that area for over 300 years.

Mike's last name is not Butters, but that's where he lives.

• Resignations (from page one)

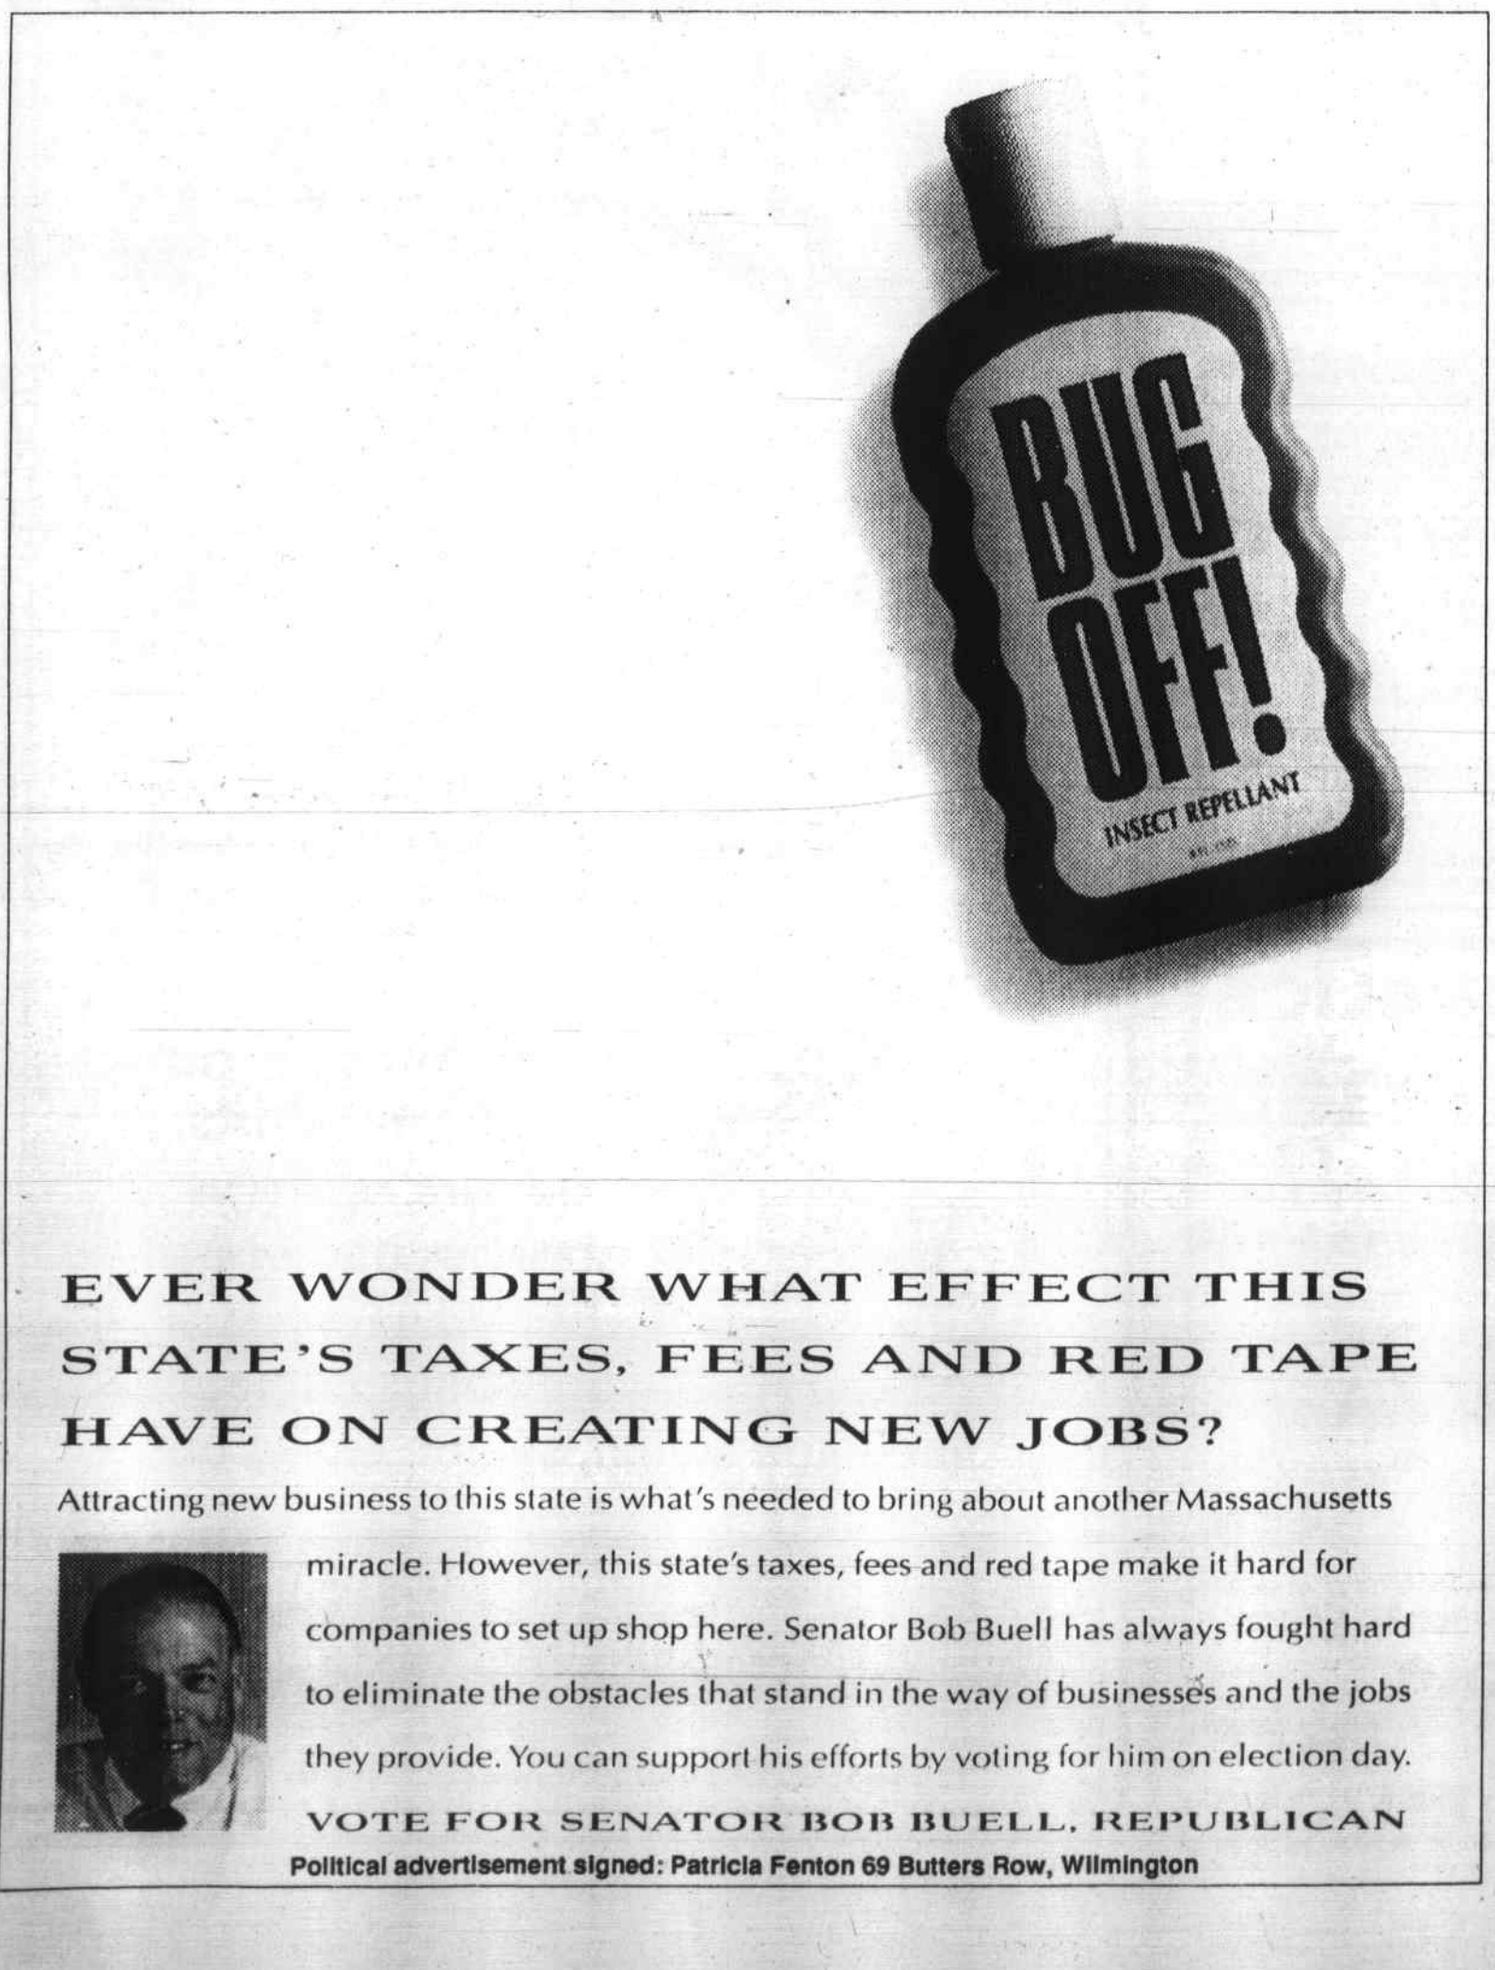

"We have a whole student body,(who) when they go out of town, are being ridiculed. Someone needs to stand up for them," he said.

When reached later for comment, Callan said she was "outraged" to learn from a high school student that parents are using students to circulate the recall petition in their homerooms. She said she was saddened by the fact that few people are remembering the alleged victims, who all happen to be 13 years old.

"What are we focusing on here? They can never justify what happened at that camp. The loss of my seat is inconsequential when you weigh it against the impact (of the hazing) on those young boys' lives," she said.

Callan also questioned the parents, who agreed to let school officials make a decision and who now don't want to accept their decision.

"I think the parents have to face the fact there are victims here," she said.

EVER WONDER WHAT EFFECT THIS STATE'S TAXES, FEES AND RED TAPE HAVE ON CREATING NEW JOBS?

Attracting new business to this state is what's needed to bring about another Massachusetts miracle. However, this state's taxes, fees and red tape make it hard for companies to set up shop here. Senator Bob Buell has always fought hard to eliminate the obstacles that stand in the way of businesses and the jobs they provide. You can support his efforts by voting for him on election day.

Bill Harrison capped off the scoring with an 18 yard run for a touchdown and Clancy kicked for an extra two points.

Too much time on turf

Wilmington High School quarterback John O'Reilly (far right) spent far too much time on the ground Saturday as Haverhill rolled to a 35-12 MVC football victory.

MVC football

Haverhill pounds Wildcats; Redmen maul Lancers

Wilmington High School's offense spent too much of Saturday's game handing points to a good Haverhill offense, as the Hillies rolled to a 35-12 MVC fooball victory at Alumni Field.

The win improved Haverhill's record to 3-1, while Wilmington slumped to 2-2 with its' second consecutive defeat. The Wildcats look to get back on track when they travel to winless Dracut (0-4-0) for a game this Friday night starting at 7:15.

Senior Wilmington quarterback John O'Reilly was pressured for much of the game, but still managed to complete 16 of 29 passes good for 239 yards. Unfortunately, he also passed out three interceptions that led to 20 Haverhill points.

The Hillies led 22-0 at halftime and had stretched that margin to 29-0 early in the third quarter before WHS senior Tom Aprile finally snapped the shutout with a one yard touchdown run. Dan Ballou wrapped up the Wilmington scoring when he scored his ninth touchdown of the season, a four yard TD jaunt late in the contest.

Tewksbury made short work of probably the worst football team in Massachusetts, bombing host Lawrence, 41-12 Saturday as the TMHS starters rolled up a 34-0 lead before mercifully taking seats on the bench.

The Redmen chalked up 300 first half yards and scored on their first five possessions of the game. Ryan McNeal scored two touchdowns; Steve Sinkus two on passes from quarterback Chris Snow; Dave Ivers one; and reserve Dave Hesketh one touchdown in a snoozer of a second half.

Kicker Chris Cullinan booted six PATS in his most productive game of the season.

Tough yards

Wilmington Pop Warner D' team running back Scott Aldrich bulls his way for a good gain in recent action. See story, other photo in this week's sports section.

Tewksbury's defense spent little time on the field Saturday thanks to a mistake-free offense.

Both the offense and the defense will face tests Friday night when the Redmen travel to Andover for a 7:15 showdown with the Golden Warriors' run-and-shoot.

Awards night caps season

by Jack Cushing

At a recent Awards Night Dance at the Sons of Italy Hall, the Wilmington Softball League presented plaques to its' 1992 championship teams.

Industrial Coed League

The Herb Mason-led Chargers of the Microtouch Softball team, on the strength of the pitching of Betsy Barroth and Bob Noel and the homerun bats of Chris Briggs, Bob Noel, Mike Peterson, Kevin Herra and Shawn Rodil, raced through a 12-2 regular season and a 4-0 playoff season to reign as this year's regular season and playoff champs.

Open Coed League

Regular season: The Cushing Club on the strength of a 10-4 season and its' married couples; Marty and Mary Sullivan, Frank and Michelle Puleo and Tom and Deidra Cotter and enough Cushing/Robarges to go along with Byron Kincaid, Joe Tkachuk and Diane Sullivan added just enough to top the field and to be the regular season champions.

Playoffs: The Wilmington Redemption Center rolled to two wins in their first three playoff games before they were stopped by Irwin's Gashouse Gang.

Undaunted by the Irwin's Rob Santos' five RBI's and a jam of homeruns, the Redemption Gang came racing back on the strength of Melissa Mullin's pitching and the timely hitting of Brian Savosik and Rich Hayden, with a clutch game tying triple by Mark Gallucci who also came in to score the winning run in the last inning on an infield hit.

Over 35 League: The Colonial Liquors team proved their strength once again as the Steve Brander-led group defended its' 1991 regular season title with an impressive 16-2 record to record the 1992 championship.

With a team that resembled the perennial champion Doyle's Hardware team of the Bo's, they mixed and matched the lineups to outdistance themselves from the rest of the field.

Playoffs: The McNamara Tire Softball team, starting with an unusual doubleheader win to close out the regular season, went into the playoffs on a roll and they weren't to be denied.

On the strength of the pitching arms of Mark Reed, Tom Hamilton and Mark Peters and the timely hitting of Paul Fullerton, the Tiremen rolled to four straight wins and this year's title of the Over 35 League Champions.

A Wilmington Softball League jacket was presented to Ron Barber, shortstop of the Charlie's Autobody team, for his devotion to the league and in particular to the Over 35 League.

BEFORE WORN SHOCKS GIVE YOU A BUM STEER...

Show your car you care.

Shock absorbers are good at what they do for only about 20,000 miles. After that they let the ride grow rougher and the steering get tougher.

But, by having your mechanic regularly check for shock wear, you can help keep them from giving you a hard time. Same goes for the rest of your car too. It needs you to keep it up so it won't let you down. And this is what regular car care is all about.

Tewksbury Minor League champs

Brewers bash way to championship

by John Frasca

What a season for Tewksbury's Minor League baseball champs. The coaches and myself were satisfied just to teach the basics of baseball-fundamentals like base running, fielding and hitting, but this back to basics approach resulted in a super season.

We lost game one (21-8) and I resigned myself to the fact that we were probably an average team. But then what do you know, we started doing great. Our pitching was fabulous. The kids pitched over the plate, hardly allowing any walks and firing tons of strikeouts. We won 12 out of 15 regular season games, running up scores like 38-2, 33-1, 30-5, 29-11.

We even had a close game that we came from behind in the sixth inning to tie, eventually winning in the eighth innning, 12-10.

We outscored our opponents 312 runs to 151 runs for a plus of 161 runs, more than two to one scoring. We out hit our opponents 245 hits to 112 hits, a plus of 133, more than two to one in our favor.

At this point we were tied for first place with a very good team, but as the season went on, we broket he tie in a 14-12 nailbiter, earning first place with a 13-3 record.

On to the playoffs, where we earned the right to play the fourth place White Sox whom we beat 15-13, 32-13. Then back to the A's for the American League Championship.

After a 14-7 loss, the kids felt that it was all over, since they were not accustomed to losing. Fearing elimination in a two out of three playoff schedule, we came back to win the second game, 11-6, out hitting the A's, 7-2.

In the third game we beat the A's again, 11-10 and became the American League Champs.

Tewksbury's Brewers Minor League champs

After playing one of the best teams we felt we would dominate in the championship game. We played the National League Champion Tigers.

The championship game started with Jim Liegakos on the mound and Jordan Frasca behind the plate.

Our offensive leaders: Justin Marino, one base, Derek Medeiros, , one RBI; Jason Bettencourt, one RBI; Jim Liegakos, two bases; Sean Rooney, one base, one RBI; David Clark, walk, Ron Taipale, one RBI, and Barry Sullivan, one base.

The Tigers were held to one hit for the game and they were thrown out trying to steal home twice by the efforts of catcher Jordan Frasca to preserve the shutout.

Jim Liegakos struckout 11 of 22 Tigers who came to bat. At the top of the second inning Justin Marino tripled, Derek Medeiros belted a homerun for two RBI's, Sean Rooney singled, David Clark walked, Jeff Surette singled for one RBI and Tony Colella singled.

Through four innings the Brewers were 13, Tigers 0. Good plays in the field by Ron Taipale, Barry Sullivan, Jeff Surette, Mike Theodorou, Steve Bettencourt and Jordan Frasca's hustle behind the plate.

In the top of the fifth we weren't finished yet. David Clark singled and stole three bases to score. Jeff Surette walked. Mike Theodorou singled to knock in the 15th run. Jim Liegakos had pitched a shutout game. The Brewers were the Minor League Champs, 15-0.

Earlier in the game, Steve Bettencourt had hit a homerun that almost entered the adjacent field.

The champs finished their season with an overall record of 18-4, going 6-1 over the seven postseason games.

ARE YOU PROTECTED?
by Edward H. Wilkens
HIDDEN LOSSES
QUESTION: I haven't had any MAJOR losses in my business lately, but some of the smaller losses are beginning to add up. What can I do to protect myself from them?
ANSWER: Losses are like icebergs. You can see the tip, i.e.: theft, fire, or the loss of employees through injuries or sickness. But the rest are hidden from view, until you begin to total it up. One loss is the dollar value of the time it takes management to get back to normal after suffering a loss.
Strive to keep losses you can CONTROL to a minimum. Complement this by having insurance coverage to protect against hidden losses. Not just the tip, but the whole iceberg.

LOSSES ARE LIKE ICEBERGS. Most are hidden from view. Make sure you are protected.

Wilmington later dropped a 3-1 decision to Melrose after an intense game packed with assertive play and many close attempts on goal.

The goal scored was by Paul Caseley on a free kick. John Saad showed improved effort on defense. Danny and Patrick Murphy played consistently, with good passing.

Commendable efforts by Jimmy Tabor, Kenny Stokes, Martin DeAngelo, Greg Montiero and Jason Harris. Paul Caseley and Patrick Sullivan were in goal for Wilmington.

Field hockey alumni needed

by Jack Cushing

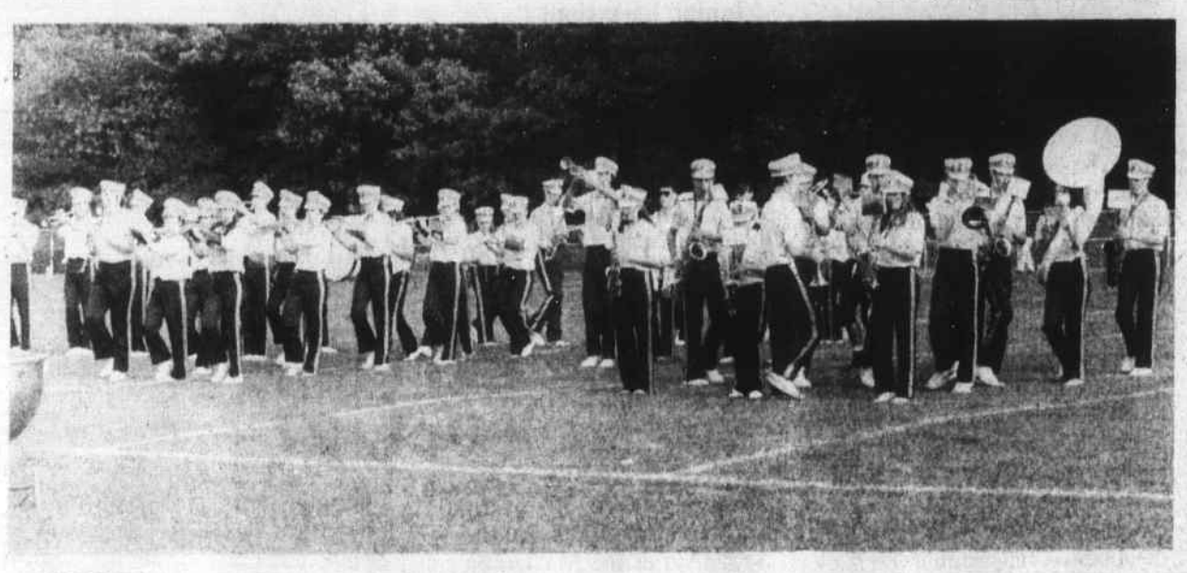

We are still looking for a few field hockey players to fill our rosters for the first alumni field hockey game Oct. 16 at town park. It will be the odd years versus the even years, as former Wilmington High School athletes compete again in a fun game.

The action will begin Friday evening at 6:30 on Aprile Field at the town park, so be there to renew old friendships, get a little exercise and swap war stories after the games.

You can let Steve Winston know you're coming at Winston's Coffee Shop or contact me at 657-7002 or just be there Friday night. There will be a $3.00 registration fee per player.

Soccer rosters are just about set, but there are still a few more spots open for the game that starts at 7 p.m. on Aprile Field. So be there for an enjoyable evening.

Plans are now being made to have both groups get together after the games for some socializing.

WHS band The Wilmington High School marching band kept the home crowd entertained with the Haverhill Hillies holding a big halftime lead.

Rabies will sweep area

by Bill Conlon

This column, or one much like it, appeared earlier in this space. But with all the attention being paid to rabies these days, maybe this one is needed again.

Soon, perhaps by next summer, a rabies epizootic (animal epidemic) will sweep into this area. There are very few reported cases of rabies in Middlesex County right now, but a massive increase is coming, soon.

A rabies outbreak was detected in West Virginia some years ago, in raccoons. An ancient disease among animals, rabies is usually described by the animal population it infects: Raccoon, Bat, Skunk and Fox. It is a fascinating virus which is almost always fatal to its victims, and that includes humans. Bad stuff indeed.

The rabies outbreak from West Virginia has been slowly spreading this way, and rabid raccoons have now been found in Massachusetts, but none in Tewksbury or Wilmington. Repeat -- not here, yet.

Raccoons are having a population explosion. Nocturnal and omnivorous, raccoons are too big and nasty to worry about predators, except wolves and catamounts and they're no longer a factor hereabouts. My grandfather's favorite night sport of raccoon hunting has lost most of it's luster, so there's nothing today, except an occasional Goodyear, to keep raccoon numbers down. The Merrimack Valley now has up to 80 raccoons per square mile in parts, and they rule the night.

And where there are too many of any animal, something will come in to slash the numbers. Enter rabies.

This killer disease will lower the number of 'coons, but at an awful price.

The rabies virus affects the brain, causing dementia and hallucinations and a biting reflex. The disease then moves to the salivary glands, where it reproduces in huge numbers. The net effect of these two symptoms is a biting animal with infected saliva, or in other words it turns a victim into a walking hypodermic, which is what the virus needs to spread.

Raccoons hang around with other raccoons, which explains the spread of the disease, but a rabid raccoon will snap at everything in sight, and there's the rub. Any animal bitten may become infected, even us.

The disease, however, is picky. If a victim is "unsuitable" to transmit rabies, the disease becomes what is called "dumb" rabies, in which the victim lapses into a coma and dies.

In either form, the disease kills its victim in a few days -- usually.

But a small fraction of an animal population displays an immunity to the disease. A few bite victims will show no symptoms, but in fact they become carriers, allowing rabies to survive, quietly, until long after the outbreak is past. Later, a new outbreak of rabies will occur when the conditions are right. For a virus, a tiny twist of living material, this is an amazing set of adaptations.

Bottom line -- there will be rabid raccoons, and other animals, in this area sometime next year, or 1994 at the latest. So, what should we do? The rabid 'coons can be expected to bite other animals, from squirrels to housepets, and the disease will be pandemic for awhile.

Dogs are fairly safe from rabies, since they are vaccinated against the disease. Cats, however, hardly ever get rabies vaccinations, so Fluffy is in trouble when the wave arrives. Call your vet about getting a rabies vaccination for your cat, even if your little Fru-Fru never (heaven forbid!) goes outdoors.

So what can we do?

-- Have all pets vaccinated.

-- Never approach an animal that appears sick or crazed. Call police instead. A raccoon foaming at the mouth is obvious, but what about a chipmunk that's going bonkers and snapping at things? Rabies may not produce that classic toothpaste look among all its victims.

-- Keep trash cans covered so the raccoons won't come shopping, and never, ever keep a wild animal as a pet or feed wild animals. Risky.

-- If your pet is bitten, or might have been bitten, contact the board of health and they'll provide plenty of instruction. Your dog will gets a 10-day quarantine, at the absolute least, but that can be done at home under many circumstances. If the pet wasn't vaccinated, expect up to six months in the lock-up, so double check those rabies shots!

-- If you are bitten, wash the bite in hot soapy water while phoning the hospital emergency room with your free hand. In all of history, a total of two humans have survived a case of full-blown rabies. Two.

-- Since there isn't any discharge of firearms allowed in Tewksbury or Wilmington, I can't suggest that a potentially rabid animal be shot in such a way as to avoid any damage to the head. Ahem.

Just because you see a raccoon in broad daylight doesn't mean it's got the disease. Relax. But keep an eye peeled for sick raccoons, or for any animal behaving oddly. Common sense will see us through this.

Incidently, human rabies vaccines are now vastly improved over the old horror stories you've probably heard. Gone are the days of painful injections to the stomach muscles. Instead, today you receive one shot near the bite, and a few in your arm muscles. Medical science has been busy with rabies vaccines.

Wilmington E' 19
Methuen 14

The E team's game captains Ryan Tildsley, Mike Hardiman, Jason Riley and Sean Layton led their team to a strong win over Methuen.

Ryan Layton ran a 45 yard sweep for a TD. Al Quinton took the ball 55 yards on a comeback. Then Josh Hiltz scored on a QB sneak up the middle from 40 yards out.

Sean Moroney, Ricky Butler and Brian Aldrich played great games on offense. Joe O'Connell and Brian Gillespie made several key tackles on defense. Next week Wilmington will host Waltham at home on Sunday at 8 a.m.

High school hockey clinic

One of the biggest problems facing high school hockey coaches and players alike is conditioning.

When practices begin, much of the time has to be devoted to conditioning, which takes away from other vital drills and plays which demand practice.

The reason for this repeating pattern is that many players are unable to skate through the summer in order to maintain their "skating legs." But now they have a place to skate.

The Northeast Pre-Season Hockey Conditioning Camp will be held Nov. 23-28 at Kasabuski Arena in Saugus.

The program features on-ice skating drills which include puckhandling and passing, cardiovascular conditioning a week prior to the start of the season and emphasis on skate training, power, stride, agility, quickness and speed.

The objectives of the camp are to increase cardiovascular efficiency, to condition and develop the skating muscle groups, reduce in-season injury and to prepare players mentally for the high school hockey season.

The director of the clinic will be Frank Muse, who brings many years of hockey to the camp. Muse guided his team to Division Three state championships in 1987, 1988 and 1989 and garnered Coach of the Year honors from the Boston Globe for those years as well. He also was named Coach of the Year by the Malden Evening News in 1988 and 1989.

The assistant director is Dave McCarthy, head hockey coach at Wakefield High School, The camp administrator is Ed White, who is the director of physical education and athletics at Northeast Regional.

The program is for boys in grades nine through 12. It will be held Nov. 23 and 24 from 4:10 to 5:50 p.m., Nov. 25 and 27 from 2:30 to 4:10 p.m. and Nov. 28 from 2 to 4:10 p.m.

Tuition for the program is $95. Participants must wear full hockey equipment. Helmets and mouthpieces are mandatory.

Enrollment is limited, so act fast. For an application or for more information, call Muse at (617) 662-2551; McCarthy at (617) 665-3563 or Ed White, (617) 246-0227.

LOCAL LEISURE & LIVING

Editor gets Scooped

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Fitts of Framingham have announced the marriage of their daughter Nancy to Town Crier Editor Larz F. Neilson, son of Larz Neilson of High Street, Wilmington.

The lovely autumn ceremony was held Saturday, October 10 in the home of her parents; followed by a cocktail party and luncheon at Wayside Inn, Sudbury.

Following their honeymoon, the couple will live in Wilmington.

Wiberg' seed grows great pumpkin

The results of the All New England Pumpkin Contest are in, as of Columbus Day, in this case Wilmington reigns supreme over Tewksbury in the pumpkin patch. Out of 52 entries from all over New England Hugh Wiberg's pumpkin came in second with his personal best ever weight of 582.5 pounds. Tewksbury's George Brooks came in sixth with a pumpkin that weighed 553 pounds. The winning pumpkin was grown by Mark Woodward of Leominster who set an all time New England record of 718 pounds.

Ironically Woodward received his pumpkin seed from Hugh Wiberg. This 718 pounder was the second largest pumpkin grown in the known world this year.

Krochmal Farms hayride eases daily stress

by Bill Conlon

In this hectic world of telephones in your car, computer viruses and ozone holes, it seems there is little time to just relax.

Krochmal Farms, on South Street in Tewksbury, offers a two-hour solution to the stresses of modern life. The offer is rarely advertised, because word-of-mouth has spread the word pretty well for years.

For a $7 fare ($5 for kids) they'll take you on a half-hour hayride in a horse-drawn wagon, through quiet farm country and autumn scenery, drop you at a secluded campsite to sit by a bonfire and unwind for an hour, then the haywagon returns to bring you on yet another half-hour ride back to the 20th Century.

The hayrides are offered by John Cave, whose father owns Krochmal Farms, and his partner, Dawn Sylvester. The rides are offered from September to March, and a variety of groups take part.

"We get all kinds of groups," said the soft-spoken John. "One week we had 'Parents Without Partners' on a ride and they had a ball. We also had a group up from Hanscom Air Force Base, with Lieutenant Colonels and everything." The hayrides bring in plenty of local scouts, John said, because of the woodland nature of the ride. But there have been college parties and company outings, church groups and birthday parties, all enjoying the rides.

Two big black "Percheron" draft horses, Dakota and Pete, draw the wagon, which can carry up to 24 people, or 26 if most of them are children. The wagon is fitted with modern wheels and suspension for a comfortable ride, and the bed of the wagon, naturally, is filled with clean hay. With a half-hour spent enroute to the campsite, everyone has plenty of chance to unwind long before arriving at the campfire.

Food can be brought along, or the hayrides can be catered, if adequate warning is given. John said many groups bring their own hotdogs to toast by the fire, and marshmallows are free.

Most of the time, John said, the group is left at the campsite with no supervision. Scout troops are often left alone, he said, because they're capable of tending a campfire. But a guide can come along, if needed.

One extra offered at the campsite are bags full of leaves, for "pillow fights," Dawn said. One party had so much fun with the pillows, she said, that the adults wouldn't let the kids have them back.

The hayrides continue long after the snowy season begins, John said. Once six inches of snow sticks to the ground, he said, wagon wheels are replaced with runners and the trips contine as sleigh rides until March. John said the phone starts ringing as the first snow of the year is still falling, mostly from regular customers hoping to take the first sleigh ride. Christmas is the busiest time for sleigh rides.

Dawn said a $90 minimum, with a non-refundable deposit of $40, is required before a trip will be set up, or call ahead to see if there is room on someone else's hayride. In case of rain, she said, the trip can be rescheduled until March.

Birthday parties can be scheduled for a flat $100, which includes free pony rides at the campsite, she said.

Krochmal Farms is reached from Route 38 in Tewksbury. Coming from the south, turn right off Route 38 at the South Fire Station, (by the new fountain) then follow South Street for about 1.7 miles. A sign marks the entrance to Krochmal Farms, and plenty of free parking is available. Until Hallowe'en, look for the orange "pumpkin" signs to show the way.

Call ahead at (508) 657-5906, for reservations. Trips last two hours (half-hour hayride, one hour by the fire and a half-hour back), with the last trip heading out at 10 p.m. Trips leave hourly when schedules are full.

Relaxation for rent

Dawn Sylvester and John Cave, seated at the reins, offer a two-hour hayride around Krochmal Farms, Tewksbury. Riders are taken on a half-hour trip across the countryside, then are dropped off at a campsite for an hour before the wagon comes to bring them on another half-hour ride back. Krochmal Farms is located off South Street in Tewksbury, or call ahead to (508) 657-5906 for reservations.

Tewksbury Harvest Dinner

A harvest dinner will be held at Tewksbury United Methodist Church, Saturday, Oct. 17, 6:30 p.m. Dinner will feature turkey with all the fixings. Tickets, adults, $7; children six through 12, $5; children five and under, $3.

Apple season in full swing

by Arlene Surprenant

Apple picking season is in full swing in the Northeast. One favorite spot in the local area is Honey Pot Hill Orchards, located in Stow, Massachusetts.

Open daily from August 1 until Christmas and then on weekends through February, this picturesque spot offers not only a chance to pick local grown fruit but an opportunity to savor the beauty of fall amid nature's offerings. Besides a wide range of crisp apples, including Wilmington's own Baldwin variety, customers may purchase peaches, pears, plums, cider, chrysanthemums, late squash, tomatoes, pumpkins, and Christmas trees. In addition, children are encouraged to pet rabbits and other animals housed on site. Right now, Honey Pot is selling Gravenstein, Crab Apples, Macouns, Cortlands, Spencers, Red Delicious, Empires, Golden Delicious, Baldwins, MacIntosh, and the crunchy Spartan apple, which is found in few other orchards in the area.

Orchard owners Andrew and Richard Martin encourage customers not only to pick their own apples but to browse through the old barn area to sample the fruit and enjoy the display of antique farm implements on the walls and ceiling. One visit to Honey Pot and you'll be coming back for more.

The orchard is open weekdays from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and weekends from 12 noon to 5 p.m. Honey Pot may be reached by taking Route 62 to Four Corners, Sudbury, Boon, and Whitman in Stow. The orchard is two miles from Stow Center. For further information call 562-5666.

To complete your day in the country, swing over to the nearby Nashoba Valley Winery located at 100 Wattaquadoc Hill Road in Bolton.

New England's pioneer producer of premium fruit wines is newly located in a lovely hillside apple orchard in Bolton. The award-winning fruit wines produced at Nashoba include Upland White and Dry Pear, the delicious Plum dessert wine, and the popular Maiden's Blush and Cranberry Apple wines.

For a dollar adult fee, visitors can tour the winery on Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays and sample five of the homegrown wines. The winery also encourages picnics in a pastoral setting, self-guided walking tours of the orchards, and pick-your own-fruit opportunities. A schedule of monthly events is available. Coming up is the Holiday Open House December 19-23, and cross country skiing on the grounds from January to Spring.

The winery is open year round. For more information call 779-5521.

Kids Helping Kids

AMY KUMPEL DEFTLY uses the sewing machines provided at the Galvin Junior High School Sewing room to help put together one of the many patchwork pillows that will go on sale in an effort to help homeless children in America. Aiding her in the project are 17 other local youths under the title of Kids Helping Kids.

By DOUGLAS WOOD-BOYLE

If you could take the energy a 13-year-old exudes when excited about a special project and bottle it, there would be no energy crises and when you multiply that energy times 18 you could be well on your way to eliminating many world problems.

An example of this is 13-year-old Amy Kumpel and her 17 friends, ranging in age from 8-years-old to 13, who are now focusing their energy on relieving the pain felt by homeless people, especially children like themselves.

The have formed under a group called "Kids Helping Kids" and are currently involved in making patchwork pillows containing a square autographed by sports figures and other celebrities.

Kumpel came up with the project this summer after interviewing former President Jimmy Carter for a radio program "The Kid Company" (WBZ-AM 1030) that she participates in as a news reporter.

During her research for the interview, Kumpel came across statistics put out by the Children's Defense Fund.

As Kumpel notes in a written press release, "The statistics are staggering, 100,000 American children are homeless, and one in every five children in the United States live below the poverty level."

Kumpel added, "When I read these figures, I couldn't believe they were talking about American children."

The release continued, "I figured there had to be something kids could do to help those children and their families."

Kumpel was also impressed with the fact that person like a former United States President "was doing so much to help people less fortunate then himself."

In July the idea of the pillow project started to form under the theme "no place to rest your head.

Kumpel, who had learned to make patchwork pillows in her seventh grade Home Economics class at the Galvin Junior High School, thought that the pillows would best exemplify the theme.

She then started to contact her friends who all said yes and brought friends and family of their own into the project.

Kids Helping Kids now consists of: Kumpel, 13; Emily Kumpel, 8 (sister); Audrey Muller, 13; Leah Pappas, 13; Melanie Trovage, 13; Katherine Stepasiuk, 12; Katie Gehron, 13; Laurie Silva, 13; Meredith Holmgren, 13; Heather Blackwell, 11; Lauren Blackwell, 13; Joan Hier, 13; Katie Hier, 11; Emily Snow, 11; Kristen Terfry, 13; Keri Laidlaw, 13; Esther Boody-Alter, 13; and, Eva Foxon, 13.

According to Kumpel, "All the 13-year-olds have made a patchwork pillow and they can help the younger ones."

In her press release Kumpel wrote, "At a time when political leaders are skirting the issue, kids are deciding enough is enough and it is time to take action."

Kumpel's mother, Patricia, and Snow's mother, Maryanne, along with some of the other parents act as the chaperones for the group. Patricia said, It is a great thing. Maryanne and I just sit and watch the kids."

The group meets every

About the Towns

By PHYLLIS NISSEN

"About The Towns" covers recent events in the 13-town Middlesex East area. Because Middlesex East deadlines are early, please check the front sections of this paper for up-to-date information about your city or town. We also welcome original material - please send it to Phyllis Nissen, "About The Towns," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

ABOUT THE TRAFFIC - Just when you thought you'd go leaf-looking, you find yourself sitting in traffic.

Just when you thought you'd be home early, you find yourself inching your way along the roads and spills of our towns.

The report below about Reading's 18,000 cars - prepared and presented not so long ago by Reading Daily Times Chronicle Editor Bruce Morang - explains why you feel surrounded by cars and provides an excuse to slow down for a look at the lighter side of the situation.

The rationale for reproducing the gem below is that: it's too good not to share; is not that this writer is on the road; is that she needs a vacation. All of which are becoming more obvious by the word.

"Looking for something to occupy your mind while you sit in a traffic jam?" asks B.N.M. "Crunch numbers."

"Town Planner Jonathan Edwards told the Selectmen last night there are 18,000 cars registered in Reading. That's up 3000 from 15 years ago.

"The towns' 'official' census claims there are but 20,982 of us here, and only 15,213 old enough to drive. No matter, apparently.

"And where does Reading go to work? Edwards says 9000 people leave daily to go to work in (in descending order of traffic volume) Woburn, Boston, Reading and Burlington. And as 9000 leave their Reading homes for work, 2000 people from 'away' are coming here to work.

"And none of the above numbers take into account the huge number of transient drivers who cut through Reading enroute to work each day; and most of them are seeking to avoid what the Commonwealth acknowledges is the worst vehicular bottleneck in the state, the junction of Rtes. 128 and 93.

"Reading's 'real' population is probably closer to 25,000 people, but we'll never know. Reading people hate to be counted, almost as much as they hate being told you can't turn left onto Wilson St., to beat the Salem St. light ... or whisk down Harrison to avoid killing yourself at the intersection of Charles and Main.

"Perhaps Fire Chief Leonard Redfern has the better idea: Put up some toll booths around our perimeter, and make the village exclusive. Inclusiveness hasn't worked: 'They' say traffic will increase by 43 percent in the next decade."

So how come people are moving to Reading in droves?

Must be the water.

SENIOR CENTER - The Advisory Committee at Woburn's Veterans Memorial Senior Center is actively seeking new board members.

Open to all adult members of the Woburn community, the voluntary positions would include monthly board meetings and regular involvement in selected senior center programs.

Qualifications include the ability to work well with the senior population, good organizational skills and the desire to contribute to the improvement of senior programs for the Senior Center population.

For more information, call (617) 935-5329.

Get organized!

The week of October 11-17 has been declared "National Get Organized Week" by the National Association of Professional Organizers (NAPO). Tucker Housewares, a NAPO member, recently sponsored a nationwide survey focusing on home organization.

The following quiz is designed to help you decide whether your family and home need an organizational overhaul."

ARE YOU REALLY ORGANIZED?

1. Do you carry your calendar with you at all times?
2. Do you set priorities?
3. Do you make appointments with yourself?
4. Do you put aside time each week to get organized or to maintain your organizational systems?
5. Are you always on time for scheduled appointments?
6. Do you have a mail filing system to avoid misplacing important information?
7. Do you use an answering machine or portable phone?
8. Do you keep a grocery list and follow it?
9. Do you keep only clothes that fit and that your regularly wear in your closet?
10. Do all your family members share in household chores?
11. Do you store "like" items together?
12. Do you spend less than 30 minutes cleaning up your house at the end of the day?

If you answered no more than five times, your quality of life could improve with some organizational tools and guidance," says Stephanie Schur, professional organizier and founder of Space Organizers..

School notes

by phyllis nissen

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

--A 5-2 vote by the Melrose School Committee has resulted in the expulsion of a 17-year-old Melrose High student for the 1992-93 school year - after his being arrested and charged with bringing a handgun and ammunition to school in June.

The committee instructed Melrose Superintendent of Schools Dr. David Driscoll to assist the student to complete his high school education - with no cost to the system; and Driscoll will be working with state agencies in pursuit of a General Equivalency Diploma for said student "if at all possible."

The student indicated that he brought the 38-caliber gun and ammunition to school and put it in another student's locker because he thought he needed the gun for protection at a meeting in Mattapan later that day.

He will be tried in Malden District Court.

--North Reading Middle School Principal Gail Votano notes that the school's highly successful Bradford Ski Program may be scheduled for two days a week this year if the number of participants increases significantly.

The program was initiated last year and drew many students.

--"After Hours" at Stoneham's non-profit Our Place is designed to provide "an opportunity for Stoneham children to use afterschool time in creative and enjoyable activities."

After Hours afterschool enrichment program boasts the support of community leaders, the Stoneham Youth Commission, the School Department, the Massachusetts Arts Lottery grant program, and an impressive list of staff members.

Included in the 1992 line-up are: Pam Barton, Geri Cruickshank, Deanna Day, Karen Gagne, Barbara Gilchrist, Jill Geisler, Lois Grace, Jean Heuman, Shirley Martis, Christine McMenimen, Karen Flynn Mooney, Phil Russo, Donna Sannella, Pamela Schofield, Heidi Surette, Ruann Warford, and Meg Wingerath.

--The Woburn School Committee has appointed Thomas Qualey and Michael Donaghey - both former players under Coach Ronald 'Rocky' Nelson - as volunteer football coaches for this school year.

--North Reading Superintendent of Schools Dr. John Flores has proposed - and the School Committee has approved - the appointment of Edward F. Maguire as the department's new director of business services - at a salary of $43,000, still not low enough for North Reading Selectmen.

According to the North Reading Transcript, the director of business services position has become a "bone of contention" between school and town officials. Town officials - namely, the Board of Selectmen - would like to see it become part of town government.

The position has been redefined and the salary lowered from $56,375 since Director of Administration and Finance Sandra Guryan resigned, effective this fall.

The North Reading town accountant receives $41,028.

--According to the Woburn edition of the Daily Times Chronicle, Boston Magazine's recent survey of area communities places Burlington's school system at #1, Winchester's at #3 and Woburn's at #4.

On Boston Magazine's quality of life index, Burlington is #1, Woburn is #4 and Winchester is #12.

Woburn received "excellent" ratings for recreation and shopping.

Kids Helping Kids

From S-1

Monday in the sewing room of the Galvin Junior High.

"We are only there because the kids need an adult in the room," Patricia said.

Once Kumpel formulated the plan and the group, the next step was to find a saleable product and thus came the idea to seek signatures from celebrities and sports figures.

"I knew the names of the celebrities and the sports figures would bring the most money," Kumpel said.

She went after Jay Leno, because he is a local person and the response was a signed cloth square with the caricature of his face added.

Leno's NBC late-night counterpart also responded, sending two autographed squares.

Others that have responded included Candice Bergen. "I knew her Murphy Brown character was controversial because of (Vice President Dan) Quayle," Kumpel said.

Bergen's response pleased Kumpel because of the autographed photo that was returned with the autographed square.

Kumpel has received some help in getting some of the sports autographs returned. Her uncle, Mark Kumpel, a player coach with the Boston Bruin's farm team in Providence, was able to secure all the Bruins' signatures on the cloth squares.

Her grandfather, Richard "Duke" Kumpel had friends in the Red Sox organization who were able to secure signatures from the team.

Although the Celtic's training camp has just started, Kumpel is hoping to get a good response from that team as well.

Kumpel notes that being a reporter on the Kid Company has also helped her in securing signatures. She said that the letters sent out include that fact to help with her credibility.

In the case of talkmaster Phil Donahue's response, Kumpel so interested Donahue's administrative aide Eric Weinberger, he offered to help her get Jane Pauley's signature as well.

Weinberger sent a letter along with the Donahue signature noting that his family came from the Wakefield area and were employees of the former L.B. Evans Shoe Company.

The group has received 266 squares back with the signatures and more are expected. According to Kumpel, all the pillows will be ready for sale by mid December.

The sale part is what Kumpel really hopes will be exciting. She has contacted several area hotels and received a positive response from the Colonial Hotel in Wakefield.

Kumpel would like the sale to be a black tie event with either a raffle or an auction for the pillows. Fleet Bank has offered to back up this portion of the program.

Kumpel contacted Fleet with a proposal for help to finance the $135 she needed to purchase the material. In return, Fleet spokesperson Melissa MacDonnell wrote to Kumpel, "It is nice to be reminded through efforts like yours that homelessness is everyone's concern, not just the concern of the adult community."

MacDonnell helped Kumpel set up a bank account for the group at Fleet's Saugus branch. She has also promised the support of the bank when Kids Helping Kids goes to sell their pillows.

Kumpel has also received a promise from Kid Company executive producer, Judy Schnieder, who has offered to help with publicity for the sale.

In the meantime as the group takes a serious look on some of life's many problems, if Kumpel is any example, they are not getting down on life.

She notes that the group has a lot of fun working together and in between the project, school and her radio show, Kumpel finds time for fun.

Whether it is getting together with friends to do homework or playing soccer in the fall and softball in the spring, Kumpel is developing a good attitude.

"About the only sports I don't like are skiing and golf," she said.

Although Kumpel admits that a couple of male colleagues on the Kid Company are trying to get her interested in golf.

Throughout all this, Kumpel seems to be learning an important lesson on how to use an experience from one part of her lifestyle to help her in another part of her lifestyle.

According to Kumpel, because of her work in radio, her grades in English and Social Sciences have been helped and the reverse is true also when it comes to applying what she learns in those classes to her outside life.

It is heartening to see a group of young people taking such an interest in life.

Victorian Ristorante to celebrate 2nd anniversary

One of the best kept secrets on the North Shore is located in the heart of beautiful Victorian Melrose. The Victorian Ristorante is planning to celebrate their second anniversary in Melrose Center on October 23rd.

"The wide room of the Victorian Ristorante, with wood and leather booths, pink brocade wallpaper and 19th century decor, promises a leisurely, pleasant meal; and the Ristorante delivers exactly that...May all weeks begin so well!"... A quote from Elizabeth New Well's restaurant critique.

Now the secret's out... to the delight of all who've come to know and enjoy the now established Victorian Ristorante.

At the Ristorante, veteran owner and award winning chefs Ayman Noufal and Osama Abualniaj, have created a balanced menu selection between Northern central Italian cuisine and traditional continental dishes.

To compliment the fine entrees, the Victorian Ristorante offers a wide selection of desserts, from creamy Alden Merrill delights to the finest selection of deserts imported directly from Milan, Italy.

Espresso, cappuccino and a variety of after-dinner cognacs and brandies offered, will compliment all desserts.

The staff at the Victorian Ristorante delivers a relaxed evening with excellent food and good service at very reasonable prices.

The management team of Domenic Camarra, originally from Abruzzo, Italy and Mark DeFabritiis, welcome new diners as the restaurant begins its third year in Melrose. Buon Appetito!!

Victorian Ristorante is located at 505 Main Street in Melrose Center.

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

Woodchips congratulates the committee members and others who organized and helped make Woburn's 350th Anniversary Grand Ball a "smashing" success. A special "Well done!" to William F. Sullivan for a "great" Master of Ceremonies performance...The wonderful idea of making it a 'period dress' event was a gem. My Aunt Nora loved it because that's the way she dresses every day. I'm happy that my wife, kathy, didn't attend because she embarrasses me at almost every social event.

We attended a party recently at the Woburn Elks. She insisted on wearing a "Phyllis Diller Peek-a-Boo dress." Some of the men peeked, then booed. I was having a wonderful time, swinging and swaying and sliding and gliding as I danced with almost every young lady at the party. Kathy tapped me on the shoulder and said, "Hey, Fred Astaire, remind me to put a steak on your black eye when we get home." "What the heck are you talking about? I haven't got a black eye." She smiled and replied, "We ain't home yet!"

Someone was stealing money out of the church's poor box. The janitor hid in the confessional to watch for the thief. His feet were sticking out under the curtain so a woman parishioner thought that Father was hearing confessions. The janitor tried to tell her that he was not a priest, but she either could not understand or thought that he was saying some kind of a prayer.

Anyway, she finished her confession and the janitor told her clearly, "I'm NOT a priest, I'm the janitor." "Oh my!" she exclaimed, "I'm going to tell the pastor you heard my confession." "Well, if you do that," the janitor said, "I'll tell your husband what you confessed!"

George Gould went to a doctor's office. "Have you been to a doctor," the doctor asked the new patient, "before you came to me?" "No sir," George replied, "I went to a pharmacist." "That shows how much sense some people have," the doctor growled. "And what sort of idiotic advice did he give you?" "He told me to come and see you," George answered.

It sure was a pleasure for me to see former M.A.S.H. star Loretta Swit (a.k.a Hot Lips Houlihan) at the Stone Zoo's "Rediscover Stone Zoo Day." I love this young lady for her dedication and active role in the care and humane treatment of animals. Some movie actresses and actors, too, are known to be great in looks and figures but with "bird brain intelligences." It sure isn't the case with Loretta. She is indeed blessed in looks, intelligence and a kind understanding heart - a kindred person indeed. Woodchips salutes all who worked so hard to keep Stone Zoo alive and active. I spent many pleasurable Sunday afternoons visiting this wonderful animal sanctuary. I remember going there with Kathy and the attendant telling her, "Thanks for bringing him back."

There is no one with endurance like the man or woman who sells insurance, except some stock brokers. One of them tried to sell stock to my Aunt Nora. He called her almost every night with no success. In his last desperate attempt he called and said, "Ma'am, buy 100 shares of this stock. I personally guarantee that it will triple in value in 10 years." "Sonny," Aunt Nora replied, "I'm 89 years old. I don't even buy green bananas!"

A New Hampshire chicken farmer was found dead in one of the henhouses. The police, after an intensive investigation, suspect "fowl play."...My niece, Maureen, is the picture of her father and the "sound-track" of her mother...The 1993 cars are in the showrooms and some are on the road. I was walking the beach yesterday and I heard one seagull ask another, "Hey Ecliff, have you spotted any new cars lately?"...Richard Hamel of Winchester stopped his car and asked a beautiful young lady waiting at a bus stop, "Do you want a ride cutie?" "Are you going North?" she inquired. "Yes, I am," Richie replied. "Good, she shouted, "give my regards to the Eskimos!"

To worry is like sitting in a rocking chair and moving to and fro. It gives you something to do but gets you nowhere...Paul Simon of Stoneham said to me, "Chipper, place your hand on the window of this door." I did and Paul smiled and said, "Do you feel the 'pane'?" Well Folks, I didn't feel the pain but Paul did when I kicked him in the shins.

People who live in glass houses shouldn't get stoned...I am firmly convinced that most class reunions are held to see who is falling apart...Officer Jerry Gately of Woburn stopped a beautiful young lady for speeding. When Officer Gately was looking over her driving license she fluttered her eyelashes and said, "I want you to know officer I have 'contacts'." "Look, young lady, I don't care who you know, you are getting a ticket for speeding and by the way your license shows you wearing glasses."

My cousin, Diane, has been married three times. She keeps a "wash and wear" bridal gown in the closet. Her towels are marked "Hers" and "Whom it may concern!"

Dreamboat is Debbie Murphy of Saugus.

Super Stars are Barbara Gerrig, Mary Michigan, Mary F. Campbell, Sharon DelGenio and Pam Stead.

Movie Reviews — Rochelle Flynn

"1492:Conquest of Paradise"

Short Takes

"1492: Conquest of Paradise" starring Gerard Depardieu, Sigourney Weaver, Armand Assante. Directed by Ridley Scott. Produced by Scott, Alain Goldman. Written by Roselyne Bosch. Rated PG-13.

Just as Columbus was never destined to set foot on the mainland of the New World, his story was never meant to be a first rate motion picture. While "1492: Conquest of Paradise" is a league away from the disastrous "Christopher Columbus; The Discovery" it is not the magical voyage for which we hoped.

Gerard Depardieu plays the Italian sailor hoping to find a new route to Cathay with Spanish financing. As a star vehicle for Depardieu, this movie gives him glorious earth tones and magnificent backgrounds in which to work. What it doesn't give him is an emotional framework.

The story begins with Depardieu, his small son in his lap, gazing at the horizon. As the sun sets, he quizzes his son on what he sees, noting how a ship descends as it disappears. The world, he explains, is as round as the orange he is peeling. It's a beautiful scene, both aesthetically appealing and intimate. But it is one of the only personal moments in the film. Much of the story is either too huge, or too removed, to give us much insight into the workings of the people who helped Columbus change history. And it takes him a heck of a long time to do it.

Remote and slow moving as this film is, director Ridley Scott has a couple of things going for him. Most importantly, this is one of the most visually appealing films you may ever see. Moorish castles, lush costumes, creaking reproductions of Columbus' three ships. It's like watching a gorgeous post card come to life, even if most of the characters are given no more personalities than the scenery.

What Scott loses in characterization, he makes up for in visuals, though American audiences may have trouble with a two-hour-and-40-minute flick that is paced on the slow side. You can't help but feel Scott would have been better off constructing a four-or-six-hour mini-series for PBS. Then there would have been time for the story, the beauty, and some personality.

First time screenwriter Roselyne Bosch may not have captured the essence of this Renaissance man, but she did take us past his discoveries. Most Americans know so little of this explorer that it's interesting to learn what became of him. This story follows Columbus through a disastrous period as governor of the new land and melancholic final chapters in his life.

Depardieu intones Columbus with an expected dignity, but he is left without a significant foil, as his common law wife, sons, fellow sea captains and backers drift in and out of the story. The only other character with any heart is Sigourney Weaver and she steals their scenes as the majestic Queen Isabel. Both powerful and sensual, Weaver is more compelling in this small role than she has been in most of her career.

Glengarry Glen Ross is a verbal ballet from David Mamet that is funny and sparkling in its rough way. Mamet is a genius at word play and his four characters in salesmen hell know what to do with his edgy language. Al Pacino and Jack Lemmon especially help to capture the rhythms, truths and vulgarity of Mamet's 1984 Pulitzer Prize-winning. Rated R. ****

Hero is for people who think Hollywood can't make movies like it used to. This Recession-era story involves a cynical TV reporter (Geena Davis) who is rescued from a burning plane with 54 other people by the unknown "Angel of Flight 104." Davis learns a lesson in human nature when given two choices - sleazebag Dustin Hoffman or generous, honest Andy Garcia. The plot stumbles a bit, but these are memorable characters brought to life with finely tuned performances. Director Stephen Frears has given us a cynical fairy tale that will warm the hardest hearts. Rated PG-13.  1/2

Mr. Saturday Night stars writer/director Billy Crystal as an elderly comedian who is forced to look back on his career, and his life - only to find it pretty mediocre. This comedian isn't a loveable character, but he's very human. Crystal has given us an emotional landscape that crosses back and forth from the eagerness of youth to the disappointment that comes 30 years after a career hits its peak. This poignant story is enhanced with plenty of humor and a strong supporting cast. Rated R. ***

Sneakers is one of those Hollywood anomalies -- it is bitingly clever, fast-paced and holds up right through to the end. Robert Redford leads a crew of burglers who work for banks and insurance agencies to make sure security systems are all they should be. But Redford walks into a con that is one smoke bomb and red herring after another. Boisterous good fun. Rated PG-13.  1/2

"The Unforgiven" is as close to poetry as you are ever likely to encounter in a movie. An unapologetically violent story, this Clint Eastwood drama captures the complexity of the human soul as well the harsh beauty of the West while it was still wild. One act of violence against a prostitute triggers a chain of events that brings retired gunslinger Eastwood back on the bounty trail and into conflict with an array of wonderfully complex characters. Rated R. ****

Enchanted April is an engaging look at four unhappy British women in the early 1920s who find peace of mind on an idyllic Italian vacation. This witty and wise movie is about friendship and inner healing. That it is set in a glorious locale, cast with remarkable actors and lovingly directed only adds to the script's charm. Rated PG. 1/2

Howard's End weaves the emotional story of two Edwardian families, one unbending and proper, the other free spirited and open. The two families are joined through marriage, resulting in some surprising changes for all parties. The film belongs to Emma Thompson as a strong, intelligent woman who brings the families together and then keeps them going. Rated PG. ****

Sarafina, based on the Broadway musical, stars Whoppi Goldberg as a strong willed teacher and the charismatic Leleti Khumalo in the title role. A combination of a school girl's dream of stardom and the brutal violence of South Africa, this film is pulled in two opposing directions. The infectious music will send ripples through you, and the dramatic storyline guarantees shivers. But the two elements just don't jibe as well as they did on stage. Rated PG-13. **

The Last of the Mohicans is one of those huge films with lots of magical movie moments. But once you get past all that swelling music, there are some great action scenes. Daniel Day-Lewis plays Nathaniel Poe, renamed from James Fenimore Copper's Natty Bumpo. Day-Lewis is the reason to see this film, as there is much fun to be had watching him shoot his flintlock rifle while running after the enemy. The scenery and battles are fab, even if the whole thing, revised plot included, is a bit too Hollywood. Rated R.  1/2

25 Years of Community Involvement

The Wilmington Sons of Italy has been an ardent supporter of charitable and educational causes since its inception 25 years ago. The Sons of Italy's generosity has assisted individuals, families, and community groups. Whether supporting a local youth group or contributing to national earthquake relief efforts, members of the Sons of Italy have always opened their hearts and pocketbooks in the spirit of brotherhood.

The Wilmington Sons of Italy has been especially generous to the youth of the community. Each year they distribute $1500.00 in scholarship aid. The Sons of Italy honors local student athletes with an annual award program. The most valuable player of the High School Soccer Team receives the Christopher DiCecca Memorial Award. The Annual Wilmington Sons of Italy High School Wrestling Tournament has become one of the top high school wrestling tournaments in Massachusetts. The Sons of Italy is a frequent contributer to the high school athletic program. They are annual supporters of the D.A.R.E. program and they were among the donors to the Barrows Auditorium Renovation Fund.

Among the local organizations supported by the Sons of Italy are: Wilmington Little League, Wilmington Pop Warner, Wilmington Youth Soccer, Wilmington Youth Basketball,, Wildcat Basketball Association, Wilmington Youth Hockey Association, AAU Basketball/Junior Olympics, Wrestling/Junior Olympics, Wilmington Community Fund, Aleppo Temple Charities, Wilmington Kiwanis, Wilmington Fourth of July Committee, Wilmington Lions Club, Wilmington Rotary Club, Wilmington Knights of Columbus, Wilmington Minutemen ,Wilmington Senior Citizens, A.I.M., Wilmington Police Association, Horribles Parade, Easter Egg Hunt, Town Recreation Programs, Saint Thomas Church, Walk for Freddy, and Tewksbury Hospital.

The Wilmington Sons of Italy has generously supported: The March of Dimes, United Cerebal Palsy, Cooley's Anemia Fund, Muscular Dystrophy Association, Don Orione Home for the Aged, Italian Home for Children, Greater Lynn Mental Health Center, Italian Earthquake Relief Fund, The Children's Inn, Boys Town of Italy, The Casa Monte Cassino, The National Law Enforcement Memorial, Ethiopian Famine Relief, Statue of Liberty Foundation, The Arthritis Foundation, Commission for Social Justice, OSIA Foundation, Garibaldi Meucci Museum, Catholic Charities, Mexican Earthquake Relief Fund, and Florida Hurricane Relief Fund.

These are just a few of the charitable and service organizations that the Sons of Italy has supported over the past 25 years. With the help of an increasingly strong membership, the Sons of Italy will continue to address the needs of our community.

History

The Order Sons of Italy in America (OSIA), founded in 1905 in New York City, is the oldest, largest, and most geographically diverse organization of men and women of Italian heritage in the United States and Canada. Today, OSIA represents 450,000 family members through its 850 chapters in 35 states and the Canadian province of Ontario.

OSIA and two affiliated organizations—the national Commission for Social Justice and the Sons of Italy Foundation—work to preserve the cultural heritage of Italian Americans; cooperate with U.S. and Italian organizations and corporations to strengthen trade, business, and educational cooperation between North America and the European community; represent the interests of Italian American families, young professionals, and retirees before the U.S. Congress; and strive to promote the positive contributions of men and women of Italian descent.

OSIA's membership represents a broad cross section of the Italian American community. Men and women share equal status within the organization as do individuals of dissimilar professsions and age groups.

Thank you for a Grand Celebration

A heartfelt thank you to the hard working committee members who were responsible for the success of our twenty-fifth anniversary celebration.

As you can see by the Town Crier insert, our neighbors and friends have been extremely generous. We are especially grateful for their support.

Finally I would like to thank all of you who have joined with us to celebrate our anniversary. Please enjoy the evening.

Fraternally,

Kevin Caira, Chairman

IT WAS A LONG TIME COMING: But the Wilmington Sons of Italy Lodge has finally held the groundbreaking for its hall. Sunday afternoon, some 50 people turned out for the blessing of the site by Father Francis Mackin.

Above, Father Mackin invokes the blessing. To the left in a white jacket is Ken Soderholm of Kenso Corp. the builder. Beside him is his son and partner, Jim Jillett, the designer of the hall. Continuing to the right, Rico Catalano, chairman of the building committee, Venerable Chris DiCecca, Father Mackin, Brother James, Rep. Fred Cain, and Selectman Dan Gillis.

Below, the members and guests toast the new building.

In 1967, ten years ago, the Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli Lodge was founded. This emanated from a series of house meetings culminated by a meeting at the Wilmington Skating Club. This meeting was attended by Joseph Gorrassi, former Supreme and Grand Venerable and his sister, Sophie Gorrassi, Recording Secretary. Also attending was Mary Benullo, Grand Deputy.

At this meeting a slate of officers was formulated and after a number of names submitted, the name Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli was determined at the suggestion of sister Anna Visconti.

The designated founders of the lodge were Laura Caira, Frances Gray, and George Murray. At this time dues were established and elections held with the following officers: Venerable Charles Ingalls, Assistant Venerable Donald Ugolini, Ex-Venerable George Murray, Orator Vincent Capozzi, Recording Secretary Laura Caira, Financial Secretary Frances Gray, Treasurer Anthony Fortunata, Trustees Gus Cuoco, Marguerite Ingalls, Alfred Powers, Nicholas Casaletto, Cynthia Esposito Caprita, Mistresses of Ceremonies Sylvia Fantasia and Anna Visconti, and Sentinel William Wolley.

Our lodge home is finally being realized after a series of setbacks and disappointments; ie. our first venture was property on Lowell Street; then a valiant try to purchase a building opposite Silver Lake and then a parcel of land plus a building on Salem Street—all to no avail.

We had approximately 94 members at the formation of our lodge. We now boast about 300.

Our organization has been blessed with excellent and determined leadership beginning with our first Venerable Charles Ingalls to our present Venerable Chris DiCecca. The Venerables have included Donald Ugolini, Alfred Powers, Eileen Wolley, Fred Miller, and Rico Catalano.

The above leaders were also supported by a group of workers (too numerous to mention) that are unsurpassed by none. Only through the efforts and determination of our members from the very beginning to our present day have made our fondest dream a reality—OUR OWN HOME!
